YELLOW JACK IS SPREADING

New Cases Multiply in Cresent City and in the State.

DEATH RATE IS LOW

Fleeing Italians Are Carrying the Disease to the Surrounding Parishes.

OBSEQUIES OVER CHAPELLE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10.—The yellow fever situation up to 6 o'clock tonight was officially reported to be as follows:

Deaths, 5.
New Cases, 68.
New sub-foci, 5.
Total deaths, 124.
Total cases, 747.
New disease centers, 21.
Total disease centers, 151.
Cases under treatment, 286.

The situation does not look so favorable in the face of such a steady increase in the number of new cases and new disease centers. They seem to be popping up all over town, and the discouraging feature of today's report is that only 19 of the 68 names are those of Italians. Quite a number of new cases appear to be secondary infection in disease centers.

An exceedingly ugly center of infection was unearthed in St. Charles parish today by Dr. Corput of the marine hospital service. Two days ago he unearthed six cases on the Diamond plantation, and today he found two more cases on that place and 11 cases on the Reserve plantation, 11 miles further north, and one case on the Sarapy plantation.

Infected Italians Flee.

It is believed that over 30 Italians have left this group in the last week, but there is no trace of them, nor will there be unless infection should develop among them at their place of refuge. Two of the cases on the Reserve plantation died while Dr. Corput was there. This plantation belongs to the Godchaux estate, and Dr. Godchaux has taken charge of the situation there and will carry out the instructions of the marine hospital service.

Five more cases have developed at Patterson, in St. Mary parish, making 30 cases in all there. While the infection was brought by Italians from the infected district in New Orleans, the disease has spread among the residents, and several women and children are afflicted. Eight of the patients are convalescent.

In view of the opposition of some boarding houses to entertaining professional nurses, a home will be provided for them by Dr. Warner's committee.

Employes Go on Strike.

A curious incident today was an incipient strike of employes in the Thirteenth ward of the citizens' sanitary department. Heretofore there have been plenty of men applying for work at $1.50 a day. The Thirteenth ward force thought it was an opportune time to obtain $2. The citizens' committee refused to pay $2, and a new force was engaged.

The city council today authorized Mayor Behrman to borrow $50,000 to assist in meeting the present emergency. Ten thousand dollars is to be used in carrying on street cleaning work and $50,000 goes to the fund asked by the government.

The arrangements for the funeral of Archbishop Chapelle were changed again tonight in view of the desire of the Marine hospital service to avert the gathering of a large crowd in the infected district in the very center of which the cathedral stands. The high mass will be sung tomorrow morning, as was done today, and the remains will immediately thereafter be interred in the crypt of the cathedral. It will not be generally known that the hour has been changed, so there will be but a few at the final obsequies.

Bishop Fitzgerald, the senior bishop of the diocese, who succeeds temporarily to the administration of the affairs of the diocese, cannot come here owing to the quarantine, so he has appointed Bishop Rouxell administrator.

In endeavoring to trace the infection of the archbishop, it was learned today that his gardener had been ill with fever about two weeks ago, and it is now assumed it was the prevailing illness. As the man lived on the premises it is easy to account for the infection.

The following cablegram was received tonight:

Rome, Aug. 10 1905.

Father Scotti, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, New Orleans, La.:

The holy father feels deeply the loss of Archbishop Chapelle.

CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL.

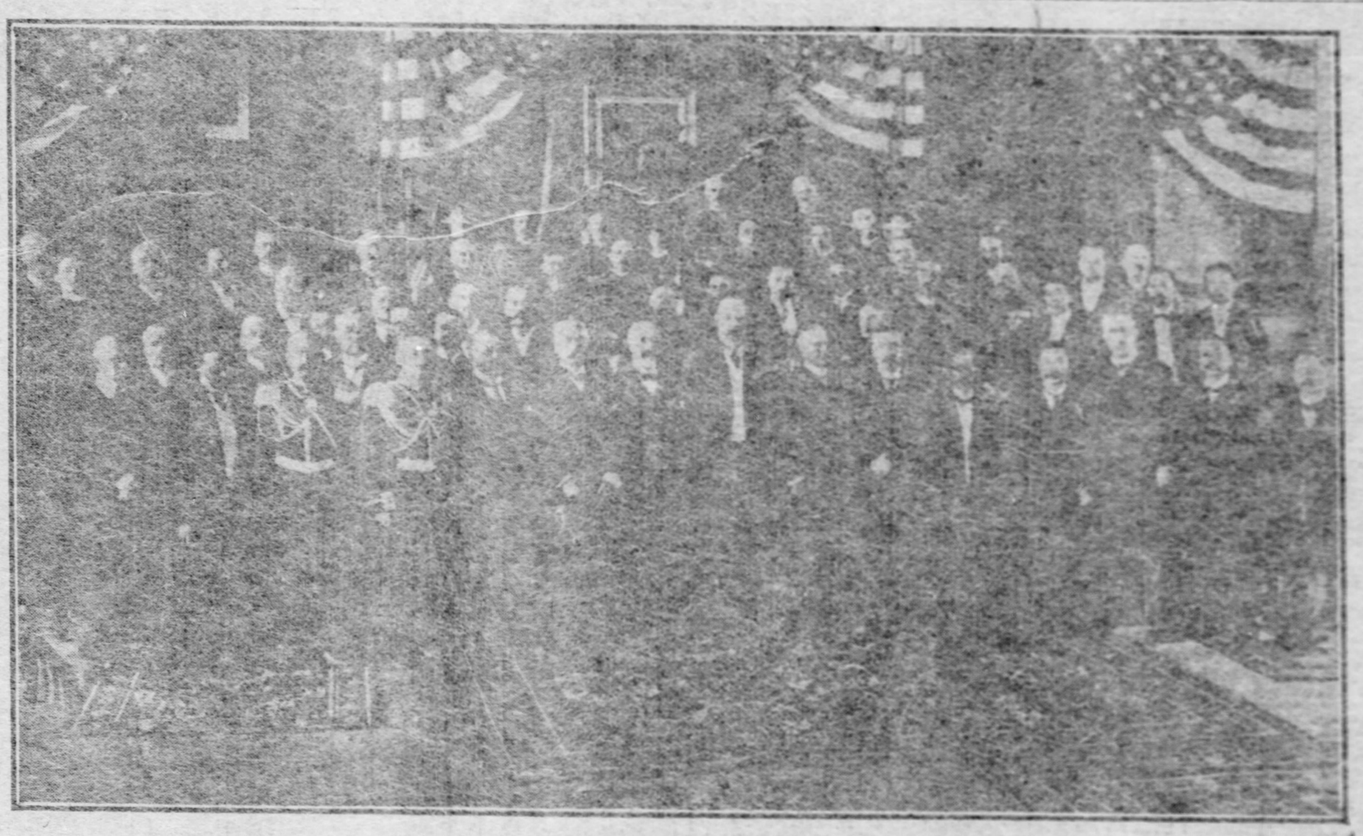
JAPAN DEMANDS THE CESSION OF THE ISLAND OF SAKHALIN; AND REIMBURSEMENT FOR EXPENSES INCURRED IN THE WAR



Reception Committee and Peace Envoys With Their Suites in the Peace Conference Chamber at Portsmouth.

These Are Chief Items in the Mikado's Peace Terms.

NO AMOUNT STATED

Sum Is Distinctly Adjourned for Mutual Adjustment Between the Two Nations.

RUSSIA WILL NOT ACCEPT

Japan's terms, as submitted to Russia, include the cession of Sakhalin, reimbursement for the expenses of war, cession of leases on the Liaotung peninsula, including Port Arthur and Dalny; the evacuation of Manchuria and the "open door" policy there; the cession of the Chinese Eastern railway from Harbin, recognition of a Japanese protectorate over Korea, the grant of fishing rights from Vladivostok to Behring sea, the relinquishment to Japan of Russian warships now interned in neutral ports and a limitation of the naval strength of Russia in the eastern waters. These terms are absolutely unacceptable to Russia. The conference was adjourned until Monday.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 10.—Reimbursement for the expenses sustained in the prosecution of the war and the cession of the Island of Sakhalin constitute the main features of the peace conditions handed by Baron Komura to M. Witte at the conclusion of the morning session of the plenipotentiaries in the general stores building of the Portsmouth navy yard. The word "indemnity" is carefully avoided, the term employed being "reimbursement" for the cost of the war. No sum is fixed, the amount being distinctly adjourned for mutual adjustment between the two countries after the Japanese expenditure has been ascertained.

These are the two all-important conditions, and those which the Russian plenipotentiaries find absolutely unacceptable. Unacceptable as they are, however, it can be stated that these two principal conditions did not come as a surprise to the Russian plenipotentiaries. The friendly fashion in which Baron Komura explained the conditions before handing them to M. Witte and the avoidance of the use of the word "indemnity" in the presentation of Japan's bill for the cost of the war without firing a gun leave the way open for negotiations and constitutes the main hope that a final agreement is possible.

Certainly the danger of a sudden rupture, no matter what the ultimate result may be, is precluded by today's developments. The other terms are substantially what the world expected, and with one, or perhaps two, exceptions could probably be entertained as a basis of negotiation. They include the following:

Japan's Peace Terms.

The cession of the Russian leases to the Liaotung peninsula, comprising Port Arthur and Dalny. The evacuation of the entire province of Manchuria, the retrocession to China of any privileges Russia may have in the province, and the recognition by Russia of the principle of the "open door." The cession to Japan of the Chinese Eastern railway below Harbin, the main line through Northern Manchuria to Vladivostok to remain Russian property. The recognition of the Japanese protectorate over Korea. The grant of fishing rights to Japan in the waters of the Siberian littoral northward from Vladivostok to the Behring sea. The relinquishment to Japan of the Russian warships interned in neutral ports. Finally, a limitation upon the naval strength of Russia in far eastern waters.

As a whole, the terms are regarded as exceedingly hard by the Russians. In addition to the two principal conditions, which cannot be accepted under M. Witte's instructions, those relating to the limiting of Russia's naval power in the far east and the granting of fishing rights upon the Russian littoral are considered particularly offensive to the amour propre of their country, and of such a humiliating character as to be indigestible.

Japan Thinks Them Modest.

The Japanese, on the contrary, as Baron Komura announced at the conference today, consider them moderate, contending they represent only a fair compensation for the expenses of the war and the victories they have achieved on land and sea, their sole purpose being to attach the objects for which they have fought, the spoils claimed being only such as they are legitimately entitled to as the result of their artillery and naval successes.

The Russian plenipotentiaries, as soon as the Japanese terms were in their hands, called to the five expert delegates attached to the mission and spent the whole afternoon in the consideration of the terms. Meanwhile the conditions had been placed in cipher and cabled to the czar with M. Witte's personal recommendations. It is hoped a reply will be received from the emperor tomorrow, in which case M. Witte expects to have the Russian response ready by Saturday. It is not unlikely, however, that Saturday being the first anniversary of the birth of the czarevitch, the presentation of the reply will be deferred until Monday. Meantime the plenipotentiaries will not meet unless some unexpected necessity for a conference should arise.

Japanese Are Patient.

The Japanese plenipotentiaries manifest not the slightest annoyance at the prospect of a few days' delay. They realize how serious the issue is, and are perfectly willing to give their Russian colleagues ample time for consideration.

M. Witte and Baron Rosen had yesterday accepted an invitation to dine with Assistant Secretary of State Peirce, and in spite of their arduous labors on the dock yard today they kept their engagement. Upon their return to their quarters in the hotel they planned again into their cars, and the Baltic in their rooms burned until long after midnight.

Much excitement prevailed about the hotel, the corridors of which were thronged with summer guests and newspaper correspondents, all discussing and speculating upon the terms, while of the envoys' duties of telegraph messengers were clicking off dispatches to all quarters of the globe. The Russian and Japa-

ENGINE BACKS INTO STREET CAR

All the Occupants Are Thrown Out and Four Are Hurt. Motorman's Escape.

Four persons were hurt in a collision between a Panhandle railroad locomotive and an open street car in Carnegie at 9:49 o'clock last night. All the passengers were thrown out and the car was wrecked. The hurt:

DOLLIE FINNEY, Heidelburg; head cut and badly bruised about the limbs; taken to her home.

JENNIE BARNHARDT, Pomeroy, Pa., visiting Miss Finney; bruised and cut, but not seriously.

LARRY FLINN, Walnut Hill, Carnegie; bruised and cut.

MINNIE FREE, Cubbage street, Carnegie; bruised.

The car, No. 1,632 on the Heidelburg line, had passed on to the railroad crossing, the conductor, Oscar Graham throwing the safety switch open. Motorman Edward Daly ran his car on to the track at Fourth avenue, just as Engineer Pat Kearns backed his engine down to the crossing. The gateman did not put the gates down. The engine crushed the rear of the car and threw out all the occupants. Miss Finney was thrown against a telegraph pole.

Motorman John Whalen saved his life by jumping from the rear seat of the car to the street. The car was swung completely around.

FREAK WRECK CLAIMS TWO LIVES IN WEST VIRGINIA

After the Engine Turned a Double Somersault One Gondola Car Kept the Track, Ran Six Miles and Wrecked Another Train.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ELKINS, W. VA., Aug. 10.—Big Run curve, on the Blackwater grade of the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh railroad, already famous for its wrecks, had another tragedy added to its list today. Two were killed, four were injured and the property loss is $5,000.

The dead:

WILLIAM WATKINS, engineer.
E. S. PAULDING, brakeman.

The injured:

H. R. CROMP, fireman; head injured and body seriously cut.

FRED WISNER, conductor; had his leg broken, and head and shoulders bruised and cut.

O. C. WILMOT, brakeman, broken limbs.

DALLAS CORLEY, spine injured.

The wreck engine, No. 103, left Coketon shortly before 1 o'clock. At the Douglas curve the train stalled, the brakes were loosened and soon the train got beyond control. Engineer Watkins applied the sand and air, and as a last resort reversed his engine. The train became unmanageable, rushing on at the rate of a mile a minute.

On reaching Big Run the engine jumped into the air, turning completely over twice. The accident happened at precisely the same spot that engine 41 was wrecked in December, 1902, when Engineer Jankey was killed.

One of the gondola cars held to the rails and sped on to Hendricks, six miles south, crashing into the caboose and demolishing it and another car, of the train ahead. The crew took an engine and went up the mountain where they found the body of Spaulding who had crawled out from beneath the wreckage, but had died. Engineer Watkin's body was not recovered until 6 o'clock this evening, and it has not yet been removed.

The body of Spaulding was brought to Elkins this evening. Spaulding was married and lived here. The train that brought Spaulding's body brought the injured, who were taken to the Davis Memorial hospital. The track is blocked and north and southbound passenger trains transferred passengers and baggage around the wreck. Traffic will be suspended until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Fifty yards of track were torn up and covered by wreckage.

CZAR NOW KNOWS JAPAN'S TERMS

Ciphor Dispatches from M. Witte Are Received Late at Night by Foreign Office.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 11.—(1 a. m.)—Russia is in possession of Japan's terms for ending the war. Long cipher dispatches were received late at night by the foreign office, and the Russian government is awaiting the morrow before deliberating on and discussing the Japanese emperor's terms.

Whether M. Witte has cabled the terms direct to Emperor Nicholas is not known. The cipher telegrams arrived at the foreign office after the departure of the translating secretaries. Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, is spending the night at his country villa on Yelagin island. At midnight a solitary light appeared in the windows of the foreign office, where a confidential attache kept guard over incoming dispatches.

The presentation of Japan's terms at the morning session at the peace conference at Portsmouth apparently was a surprise to the foreign office officials. Special dispatches from the Russian correspondents at Portsmouth give not the slightest intimation as to the contents of the Japanese communication, or its effect on the members of the Russian mission. The chief point on which they dwell is the exclusion of Prof. Martens from the conference.

WERE BOUND TO MARCH

Knights of Pythias Parade at McKeesport Causes Strike at Garbage Plant.

The negro Knights of Pythias convention in McKeesport yesterday caused a strike among the negro drivers of the city, most of whom insisted on being in the street parade. As a result the collection of the city's garbage was interfered with.

About 50 drivers of the D. W. Auld Garbage company applied for leave of absence but the manager decided that some one would have to work. His refusal to allow them all to lay off caused the strike and only four drivers consented to take out their teams. The parade was the main feature of the convention.

Last night there was a reception and banquet which was also an attraction for the drivers. It is expected that the inconvenience caused by the strike will not extend over today, although the garbage company has threatened to discharge every man who laid off without permission.

A BIG STEAMER SINKS

Towboat Joseph B. Williams Strikes a Snag at Golconda, Ill.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PADUCAH, KY., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—The Joseph B. Williams, the second largest stern wheel towboat in the world, belonging to the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal Company, of Pittsburgh, struck a snag in the Ohio river below Golconda, Ill., today, and sunk. A hole nearly 40 feet long was torn in her bottom. The loss will be about $5,000.

Until the time of the building of the Sprague, the Joe Williams was the largest boat on the inland waterways. She was built in this city about 1898, and upon her maiden trip to New Orleans she created a furore in river circles. The report which reached this city yesterday stated the boat was bound up with a tow of empties. She left this city several months ago for New Orleans with the largest tow ever taken out from Pittsburgh by a single boat.

According to the report received here no lives were lost in yesterday's accident. A diver was at once dispatched to the scene and it is thought the boat will be floated within a few days.

REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Pacific Railroads Will Not Recognize Employes Who Deserted Their Posts.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 10.—There will be no arbitration of the strike of the telegraphers against the Great Northern railroad. That was finally decided today by General Superintendent Glade, who made a statement to that effect to a number of newspaper reporters he had summoned to his office.

Information reached the governor's office today of the filing with the state railroad and warehouse commission of a complaint by organized labor interests that there are 61 stations closed along the line of the Great Northern railroad in Minnesota.

ROB THE MAYOR'S HOME

Chicago Thieves Insolently Show Their Contempt for Dunne's Crusade.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—In insolent bravado, and with a boldness that marks the climax of crime in Chicago, burglars early today entered the home of Mayor Dunne, as if to show the commander-in-chief of the police department how little they fear the crusade against criminals. They escaped with a small quantity of plunder.

From all over the West Side today came reports of robberies and burglaries. At Douglas park, a veritable reign of terror exists. Bandits, hidden in the shrubbery, have caused so much alarm that many persons living in the neighborhood fear to enter the pleasure ground in the evening.

The burglary at Mayor Dunne's home occurred soon after midnight. The thieves were busy in a linen closet when one of the servants was awakened by the noise. She cried out in alarm and the burglars fled, taking with them several table cloths. The mayor was aroused and reported the burglary to the police.

nese plenipotentiaries denied themselves to callers, no statements were issued and only to a few were Japan's conditions known.

The presentation of the Japanese terms came at the very end of the morning session. Baron Komura himself handed the momentous document in duplicate in French and Russian to M. Witte, who thrust the papers in his inside pocket, and the session was declared adjourned.

Baron Komura was exceedingly earnest in his statement that Japan was anxious for, and desirous of, an abiding peace, and in advance of the actual delivery of the conditions, he assured M. Witte and Baron Rosen that his country's terms were moderate and he hoped such as could be accepted on a basis of negotiation. M. Witte replied to Baron Komura at considerable length, with the greatest earnestness, joining in the hope that a lasting peace could be arranged. The frank and evidently sincere expressions of the chief plenipotentiaries made a deep impression on both sides.

Immediately after the plenipotentiaries and their secretaries had gathered in the conference room and exchanged complimentary words partly in Japanese, M. Witte produced a diplomatic note addressed to the Japanese plenipotentiaries, in connection with their failure to present their credentials at yesterday's meeting. What the contents of this note are cannot yet be learned, but there is a basis for the belief that M. Witte in this note took occasion to give expression to the surprise which he undoubtedly felt that the Japanese plenipotentiaries after having from the outset of the preliminary negotiations laid so much stress on the necessity of examining credentials before the first step was taken should, at the first meeting, have failed to bring with them full official letters.

It was the understanding of the Russian envoys that Baron Komura would decline to even open negotiations of the most informal character unless he had satisfied himself of the validity of the full powers of M. Witte. Historical precedents are quoted in the note to show the irregularity of yesterday's proceedings. The purpose of the Russian note was to make the permanent record complete and make it show clearly the attitude of the plenipotentiaries from the beginning of the conference.

SAYS THE JAPANESE ARE WORKING NEWSPAPERS

Member of M. Witte's Suite Says Journalistic Campaign Is Not Going to Win.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 10.—With regard to the frequent interviews with Mr. Sato and other Japanese delegates which are appearing in the press, a prominent personage belonging to M. Witte's suite made the following statement:

"Throughout the war the Japanese have made all the efforts in their power to win the press to their side. They have proceeded in a fashion quite comprehensible from their point of view, but less so from that of the public which has swallowed what they have been pleased to furnish. Of course, the people of all countries, in America as well as in Russia, are readily susceptible to a propaganda of ideas, no matter how false they may be.

"For instance, the papers of the last few days have contained an interview with Mr. Sato in which he says that Russia must pay a war indemnity because she is at the end of her resources, and that the Russian representatives although making wry faces, will have to pay even if the word indemnity is not used. It is not possible to suppose that Mr. Sato wilfully mis-states facts, and the most charitable view is that he is badly informed. He probably does not know that Russia in all her history, never paid a war indemnity. She did not even pay an indemnity to Napoleon the Great, when in 1812, with his army he invaded Russia and entered Moscow. It is, therefore, difficult to suppose that Russia will pay an indemnity to the Japanese when the chief of the army, Marshal Oyama, who, notwithstanding the respect due to him, is not Napoleon the Great. Up to the present, after a year and a half, not only has he not entered Moscow, but has not even reached the real Russian frontier. Indeed, in the last few months he has remained near Gunshu pass, more than 650 miles from that frontier, not daring to attack Gen. Linevitch. Mr. Sato, in his ignorance, probably does not know that two years after the entrance of Napoleon into Moscow the British army in 1814 entered Paris and dethroned the great warrior."

The Russian representative added that he did not say this to minimize the military success obtained by the Japanese, but because in his opinion it is not clever to magnify these successes and try to make a mountain out of a molehill.

THOUSAND SOCIALISTS CAPTURED BY SOLDIERS

Poland's Jails Are Being Filled With Armed Jews—General Fighting With Police.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LODZ, POLAND, Aug. 10.—A thousand Socialists who were holding a meeting in a forest near here today were surrounded by soldiers. The majority were arrested, many being wounded while attempting to escape. The military commander has sentenced the chief of police and the burgomaster to one week's imprisonment for disobedience of military orders.

WARSAW, Aug. 10.—The police were busy this afternoon filling the jails with Jewish Socialists. They captured 250 armed with revolvers and daggers in a synagogue. Fifteen others were arrested after an exchange of shots. A bomb was discovered in the street this morning and three policemen were shot.

There also were disturbances in the surrounding district. Gangs of revolutionists, armed with revolvers and bombs, attacked the government treasuries in the three district towns of Opatow, Lubartow and Wengrow, resulting in stiff fighting with the police, several of whom were killed or wounded. Peasants destroyed the palace of Count Krasinski at Tyrocin, near Rylestok.

BOAT REACHES BROWNSVILLE

Special Telegram From W. L. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Aug. 10.—"Everything comes to those who go after the things the other fellow is waiting for."

This quotation in immense letters at the masthead of the steamer Island Queen bore the business greeting of the Merchants' & Manufacturers' association of Pittsburgh to the crowds which lined the shores of the Monogahela today and at each town gave welcome to the visitors.

The first of the two days selected by Pittsburgh business men to visit their old friends in the valley has been an almost continuous ovation. That the members of the party are at no loss to entertain themselves between stops has also been well demonstrated.

Only for a few minutes was the start from the Wood street wharf delayed this morning by the late arrivals. For those who had been forced to desert the breakfast table in order to catch the 8 o'clock boat the organization served a breakfast on the steamer. With band playing the steamer swung up stream, Capt. John F. Klein, the owner, in personal command. The boat more than made up the delay in starting and caught the reception committee at Homestead napping.

Homestead First Invaded.

Under the marshalship of H. W. Neely of the Pittsburgh Dry Goods Company chairman of the trade excursion committee, the party was quickly lined up in double file and marched up hill and down into Homestead's business center. There the Pittsburgh boys met the reception committee, whose members, without formality of any kind, turned the town over to them. The committee consisted of O. T. Hill, chairman; William Kessler, C. W. Erbeck, D. J. Crawford and Burt Horner, representing the Homestead Business Men's association. Here, also, William B. Wolfe, a former Pittsburgh councilman, of the Wolfe Brush company, received the glad hand on his late joining of the party.

Close to an hour was spent at Homestead, and then the trip was continued to Braddock. Its energetic board of commerce sent a committee to the landing with a score of carriages and other conveyances, sufficient to carry the entire party. After a ride through the business streets of the hustling young city the visitors were taken to the Carnegie library. There they met the representative business men of three boroughs—Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin. R. W. Russell was marshal of the big parade, while the band in front and the river and factory whistles behind bade the most evident welcome.

Braddock's Greeting Hearty.

Not satisfied with the chance for good fellowship allowed during the Braddock visit, a committee had boarded the boat at Homestead. The members of this committee were W. S. Heath, H. J. Learn and George W. Keutscher. Chairman George Hogg of the general committee, in bidding his fond farewell to the departing guests, remained on board until the boat was well out in the river and then swung down into a skiff. The Braddock committee which gave such good account of itself was composed of George Hogg, J. H. McCrady, George C. Watt, L. F. Holtzman, John A. Loew, H. J. Learn, W. S. Coleman, L. H. Katz, William Connors, F. G. Bishoff. The committee was assisted by the officers of the board of commerce, George Moore being president and W. S. Heath, secretary.

Duquesne was the next stop and the town, whose furnaces make the Edgar Thomson plant look to its laurels, ran a close second to Braddock in its hospitality. There also was the long uphill, double file march, with band leading.

First Speech at Duquesne.

The first speech on the trip made its appearance at Duquesne. Burgess Fred Pirl stood on the steps of the Carnegie library and won the hearts of the crowd by the heartiness he compressed into about 50 words of greeting. President E. J. Lloyd of the "M. & M." responded with a brevity equally appreciated. The committee representing the Duquesne board of commerce consisted of William J. Leader, chairman; M. Wolf and John Fey, vice chairmen; J. F. Mikaloff, treasurer, and J. W. Spring, secretary. In addition many business men of the borough took part.

From Duquesne the boat proceeded to McKeesport where also the reception was a gratifying one. The party was met at the Baltimore & Ohio station. Then speeches, nice and short, were made by Mayor G. F. Falkenstein, President Lloyd and Secretary J. W. Wardrop. Then the bunch spread all over Allegheny county's third city, and in an hour a surprisingly large amount of business was done. One merchant's experience is typical. He said: "I met today a man with whom our house has been doing business for 20 years. This is the first time I have ever seen him. Just to show his appreciation of the M. & M. he gave me a good order today. This pays double the cost of my trip."

Met by Big Committee.

The McKeesport committee consisted of the following, appointed by Chairman W. V. Campbell:

George J. F. Falkenstein, Capt. A. M. Bellie, A. R. Good, D. F. Smith, R. J. Black, T. J. White, S. M. Bowman, Brick Bros., Daniel Stratton, Pro. J. B. Bailey, J. F. Perrigan, Finley & Co., H. H. Renzlehausen, F. O. Reed, Samuel Milliken, F. H. Coursin, W. S. Abbott, George Neems, Frank Becker, John B. Edie, Joseph Unger, J. D. Evans, Dr. W. M. Downey, Henry Firestone, Dr. N. Sunatein, Thomas Evans, R. E. Stone, J. E. Patterson, Knox O. Hill, Louis Haller, David Kerrigan, C. E. Soles, John Malloy, W. H. Cunningham, C. A. Tawney, T. F. Wiley, C. B. Bailis, S. R. Cohill, W. J. Sharples, F. S. Gleason, Joseph McKay, W. J. German, George Louabaugh, R. T. Vance, R. F. Dulaney, John Ivy, George Edmundson, John Devenny, E. P. Douglass, J. C. Smith, Hodgson & Johnston, A. Raplin, E. W. Pitts, Samuel Cooper, J. W. Painter, Thomas Reynolds, Harry Hamilton, W. P. Wampler, Donovan & Ekin, T. D. Gardner, Charles Campbell, David Foster, J. E. Edmundson, J. M. Borland, G. H. Lysle, Harry Myers, G. F. Myer, L. N. Morgan, P. Langsdorff, E. M. Trich, James Butler, D. H. Rhodes, J. N. Hersam, J. N. Hartman, William B. Fell, William Evans, Dr. W. E. Walker, A. R. May, W. H. Coleman, George Altmyer, David Auld, Lee Bachman, William Selber, W. B. Peters, Charles Dahlstrom, Herman Lettig, G. C. Murphy, J. C. Sword, G. G. Crawford, Peter Koch, William Cox, Frank Gutser, William M. Woods, Frank Regensburger, William Sheehan, Peter W. McClure, Michael Gross, J. B. O'Neil, W. K. Herwig.

At Elizabeth only a short stop was made and the party did little more than give the town a band concert.

Parade at Monongahela City.

At Monongahela City the welcome extended ranked with the heartiest of the day. When the boat drew up to the wharf, a large committee came on the gang-plank. Dr. H. T. Billick, mayor of Monongahela, made an address of welcome. The responses was made by President Lloyd and Secretary Wardrop. Then followed a parade, the band of the M. and M. being rivalled by that of John A. Wood band brought to Monongahela for the occasion. Two hours were spent at this city, the clubs of the city, including the Eagles, Elks and others, being thrown wide open to the visitors.

The committee of the board of trade consisted of S. M. Downer, president; Gerald O'Leary, vice president; Lloyd E. Filun, Joseph Lytle, C. H. Landefeld, Joseph A. Herron, J. C. Corrin, William T. Corrin, president of the Merchants' association; Theo. Landefeld, James L. Yohe, James Boyer, M. Hart Borland, M. J. Yohe, A. M. Gregg, Robert Robinson, William McGregor, William B. White and Charles Bentley. The stores were kept open and the businessmen kept open house. The town was illuminated for the occasion. Special trolley cars were provided for a trip through the industrial part of the city.

TRAVELING IN STEERAGE IS A WHOLESOME UNDERTAKING

Death Rate Less Than in the Healthiest Cities in Country—Collector Stranahan Furnishes Some Figures on Subject of Immigration.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Acting Secretary Murray of the department of commerce and labor, today received a report from Collector Stranahan of New York showing that during the past three fiscal years ended June 30, 1905, from the ports of Europe, 1,922,554 steerage passengers embarked for New York, of whom 425 died on the voyage, or about 22 deaths per 100,000 passengers. Allowing 12 days for the average voyage, the rate is equivalent to an annual death rate of about six and one-half (6.56) per 1,000. (The last federal census shows the annual death rate per 1,000 in 1900 in New York City was 20.4; in Washington 22.8, and the lowest for large American cities, St. Paul, Minn., 9.7, and Portland, Ore., 9.5. The federal census gave the death rate for Hungary at 30.3, Italy 24.6, Germany 22.8 and Norway 16.5.)

The highest monthly rate for the three years was January, the month of smallest travel, 38 deaths out of 87,300 in the steerage; the lowest rate, also 38 deaths, out of 256,838 steerage passengers, was May, one of the months of heaviest steerage travel to New York. From Northern Europe there were 242 deaths out of 1,351,221 steerage passengers; from southern Europe 181 deaths out of 561,712. Of the steerage passengers 51,573 were babies under one year and 116 more were born in the steerage, two mothers dying in childbirth; 126,908 were children over one and under 8 years, and 1,774,068 passengers were over 8 years. Under 3 years 211 died; over 8 years 212. The census figures for 1900 give deaths under 9 years in the United States, so exact comparison is not practicable. In the steerage one and one-third died out of every 1,000 children under 8 years.

Only one steerage passenger out of nearly two millions died on shipboard from accident, and only one from yellow fever. Twenty-three committed suicide and seven disappeared (suicide, accident or murder.)

WANTS WITNESS HORSEWHIPPED

Mrs. Taggart Denounces Man Employed by Major as a Private Detective.

HUSBAND TAKES THE STAND

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 10.—"You cur, you ought to be horse-whipped." The court room was so still that not a listener in the packed room missed the words as they were hissed at C. R. Mayble by Mrs. Grace Taggart today. This incident, the most sensational since the opening of the divorce trial, occurred at the afternoon session. Mayble had taken the stand to testify about a Silver Lake episode in which it is alleged Paul Stauffer, a well-known young man of Wooster, figured. Mayble, who gave his residence as Victoria, Canada, near Buffalo, N. Y., and his occupation as a stock buyer, is alleged to have done some detective work in the case.

An argument began as to the admissibility of Mayble's testimony, and Judge Eason announced that he would reserve his decision until tomorrow. He then dismissed Mayble.

As Mayble walked to the door of the courtroom he passed within a few inches of Mrs. Taggart. As he passed her she made her excoriating remark.

Stung by the epithet hurled at him, Mayble flushed and hesitated a second. Then, with his eyes fixed straight ahead he worked his way out of the courtroom.

Maj. Taggart was called to the stand this afternoon and told the story of his married life.

"I first met my wife," he said, "at the home of her sister, Mrs. Shields in Chicago, and married her December 20, 1899. After our engagement I learned her real name was Grace Manville. I frequently met her real father, but never heard anything about her real mother."

When questioned by Attorney Sterling as to his knowledge of his wife's use of liquor, Maj. Taggart said:

"There has never been a time since we were married that Mrs. Taggart has not been accustomed to using liquor. While at Platisburgh, N. Y., she used a pint or two a day for medical purposes. She always drank whisky with the rest and always drank her whisky without water. She never refused a drink.

"At Fort Leavenworth was the first time she ever drank whisky to such an extent that I became alarmed. At Fort Thomas she gave our child beer and I objected. My first intimation of Mrs. Taggart's drinking bout at Fort Thomas was the conversation with her and my brother, Howard, at the breakfast table the morning after it happened. I questioned Mrs. Taggart about it and she said they had started the contest in fun, but the other woman won out. I cautioned at the time not to repeat the performance nor to drink at the canteen as it would excite comment at the post.

"Mrs. Taggart once went to the sideboard, took a little of every liquor there, mixed them together, took a drink of the combination herself, and gave Howard one. I criticised her for it. The last year of our stay at Fort Thomas she learned to smoke cigarets.

"On one occasion in Cuba Mrs. Saffarons came to Mantanzas to visit my wife. The next evening the two women took a walk and I remained at home with Culver. We went to bed at 10 o'clock and when I woke up at 1 o'clock I discovered that Mrs. Taggart had not returned yet. I dressed and went out to find them. Every place was closed but one saloon and I went in there. At a table I found the two women and two volunteer lieutenants drinking champagne and noticeably under the influence of liquor. They were just raising their glasses for a drink when I walked up and knocked the glass from Mrs. Taggart's hand, breaking it. Then I took her home.

At this point Judge Eason adjourned court until Friday morning. Mrs. Saffarons, wife of Capt. Saffarons, arrived at noon and took a seat beside Mrs. Taggart during the afternoon session. Mrs. Saffarons, it is understood, is to give evidence that will clear up some of the allegations of misconduct by Mrs. Taggart, particularly the drinking incident at Mantanzas. Maj. Taggart will resume the witness stand in the morning and the most damaging testimony yet produced by the plaintiff's counsel is expected.

WATER COMPANY SUED.

Four More Persons Are Claimants for $10,000 Damages.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Additional suits for damages, aggregating $10,000, have been instituted against the Citizens Water Company of Scottdale, by George Maason, R. S. Christner, David Queer and D. L. Kineer, all of Bullskin township.

A midnight flood in 1904 caused the breaking of the dam maintained by the company on Green Lick run and a deluge of water swept across the lands of the plaintiffs. Carelessness in allowing the dam to remain in a dangerous condition before the flood is alleged as a basis of the proceedings.

Fire Damages Grocery Store.

Fire in the grocery store of Walter Craig at 42 Washington street last night caused a loss of $800 to the stock and the same amount to the building. The building, a three-story brick, is the property of A. Barone of Carmac and Curtin street. The third story was occupied by Mrs. Margaret Dill and daughter, who did not leave their rooms, and the second story was unoccupied. The origin of the fire is unknown.

MAYOR WEAVER ON CURE OF EVILS

OFFERS NO PANACEA FOR ILLS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, Aug. 10.—Owing to the visit of President Roosevelt today no session of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was held. A mass meeting, under the auspices of the union, was held in the Ninth regiment armory tonight. The principal speaker was Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia, who received an extremely cordial welcome.

Mayor Weaver spoke of the necessity of municipal reform, which, he said, "stands almost first in the needs of the hour." He said in part:

"An organization such as yours, constituted for the propagation of a great moral idea, under the direction of a great Christian church, must be of immeasurable value to the state and nation. The ethical force of your various societies in the communities of which they form a part in upbuilding character by placing duty above desire, cannot be too highly estimated by the statesman, the moralist and the religious teacher.

"I have no panacea for municipal woes, and this is not the time or place for an extensive treatment of the subject. On one point, however, I have reached a conclusion based upon recent experience and I take this occasion to state, and that is that political partisanship is the enemy of good municipal government.

"All the sources of municipal degeneracy find shelter and breeding under the folds of the tents of partisanship. These camp followers of party are in fact not partisans at all—they are of no party and of all parties. They lay their eggs cuckoo-like in the nests of any triumphant party, but they follow surely in municipal government wherever partisanship rules therein."

Mayor Weaver concluded with a reiteration of the proposition that publicity is a cure for most of the ills that affect the social body.

day in honor of the archbishop. The services lasted two hours with a large attendance, principally of people living on the lower side of Canal street. Thirty priests participated, and the church was profusely decorated in white, black and purple. The body rested on a bier in the main aisle, and it was found that the body was sufficiently preserved to permit the removal of the metallic covering. Many viewed the remains through the glass. After the services, further visits to the church were discouraged. Cardinal Gibbons telegraphed his condolence.

The papers print today the address which Archbishop Chapelle had prepared for the clergy and the people on the yellow fever situation. It was completed on the day that the archbishop was stricken. After the death of Mgr. Chapelle yesterday, the magnificent residence which he occupied was completely fumigated and will henceforth be under observation until the danger of infection from it passes.

SIEGE OF TYPHOID.

Contamination of the Water Supply Breeds Epidemic of Disease in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—That New York city is to experience a severe siege of typhoid fever that will not be checked until cold weather sets in is the statement made by Health Commissioner Darlington today. According to Dr. Biggs, medical officer of the department, there have been up to August 5, 1,456 cases of typhoid fever and 305 deaths in the entire city.

In proportion to the population there have been more cases and more deaths in Brooklyn than in any other borough, which Dr. Darlington attributes largely to the contamination of the water supply of that borough. A house to house canvass for cases of typhoid was begun today in the Thirtieth ward, Brooklyn.

"We are greatly hindered in our efforts to stamp out typhoid by the failure of doctors to report cases," said Dr. Biggs, "and we mean to investigate for ourselves, in order to trace, if possible, the sources of infection."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Friends of George C. Dietrich, the bankrupt city contractor, who lays his failure at the door of the once powerful contracting and political combine of Durham-McNichol, today took preliminary steps toward inducing the contractor to return to Philadelphia and face the men who, he swears, brought about his downfall in the courts.

It is known half a dozen letters were today forwarded to Dietrich at Seattle, where he has been in hiding. The communications pointed out to Dietrich his folly in staying away from Philadelphia. He was urged to come back; was offered financial aid, and was promised immunity from creditors.

ARCTIC PARTY IS SAFELY RESCUED

Fiala Expedition Is Found After Two Years' Separation from the World.

BRAVE LEADER HAS FIANCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HONNINGSVAAG, NORWAY, Aug. 10.—The Arctic steamer Terra Nova, which went to the relief of the Fiala-Ziegler polar expedition, with the exception of a Norwegian seaman, who died from natural causes. The ship America, which took out the expedition, was crushed in the ice early in the winter of 1903-04, and was lost with a large part of her coal and provisions.

The 37 members of the expedition who returned to safety are all in good health, despite their deprivations and trying experiences and their prolonged imprisonment in the Arctic, the expedition having been severed from all communication with the outside world since July, 1903. Anthony Fiala of Brooklyn, N. Y., the leader of the expedition says:

"By my order the America wintered in Nopitz bay, where early in the winter of 1903-4 the ship was crushed in the ice and became a total loss together with big quantities of coal and provisions. Supplies of stores left at Franz Josef land by various relief parties saved us very serious privations.

"Three attempts to reach a high altitude failed. The scientific work, however, as planned, was successfully carried out by William J. Peters, of the United States geological survey.

"Our rescue was due to the splendid efforts of William S. Champ (secretary of the late William Ziegler, commanding the relief expedition, who, owing to the terrible weather, failed to reach us last year; and to the untiring zeal of Capt. Kjeldsen and his Norwegian officers and crew, who for six weeks persistently forced their way through solid floes of ice and finally reached us.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—After keeping the secret for more than two years, Miss Clare Puryear of Nashville, Tenn., through friends, makes public the fact she is the fiance of Anthony Fiala, the young Brooklyn explorer, who headed a Ziegler expedition into the frozen north. Miss Puryear promised to wed Mr. Fiala the day before the explorer started for the north.

Miss Puryear is a school teacher in Nashville. Fiala met her in 1897. So far as is known she has never been north. She is a very beautiful girl. New Yorkers who have met her speak of her charm with great enthusiasm, and she is a close connection of the famous Lieut. Commander Maury of the navy, a hydrographic official at Washington, one of the foremost of government scientists of the last half century, and the man who laid out the "ocean lanes" for steamers across the Atlantic. She is the daughter of Andrew Puryear, of Nashville.

INSURGENTS SPRING NEW MAN AGAINST ELKINS

Congressman Gaines Is Latest Opponent Proposed to West Virginia Senior Senator.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 10.—The organization of the anti-Elkins Republicans, which began last month at White Sulphur Springs, was continued here today at a meeting in the office of Judge Reese Blizzard, who is widely spoken of as the candidate to be placed in the field to oppose Senator Elkins for re-election.

A new name was sprung today, but it stated that no opposing candidate has been agreed upon yet. The name mentioned today is that of Congressman Joseph H. Gaines of Fayette. While no information was given out it is certain that different available candidates are being considered with a view to concentrating the opposition to Elkins. A permanent organization has been formed by the insurgents and an effort will be made to get hold of the state machinery, which is now in the hands of friends of Senator Elkins.

Those here today were G. F. Tetter of Philippi, Senator S. O. Marshall of New Cumberland, Senator S. B. Montgomery of Tunnelton, Senator P. H. Hatfield of Ritchie county, W. W. White of McDowell county, Judge Reese Blizzard of Parkersburg, W. P. Hawley of Bluefields, George McIntosh of the Fayetteville Journal, J. W. Burchinal of Moundsville, Grant P. ROOSEVELT'S POSITION TOWARD CATHOLICS

Stated by Secretary Taft at Dinner Given by Archbishop Harty.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MANILA, Aug. 10.—A dinner was given tonight by Archbishop Harty to the party of Secretary of War Taft's party. Toasts were responded to as follows: "Welcome," by Archbishop Harty; "Pope Pius X," by Apostolic Delegate Agius; "The President," by Secretary Taft and "The Philippines," by Representative Cochrane. Secretary Taft said:

"Now the toast to which I am to respond is a toast to the president of the United States. That office is now occupied by Theodore Roosevelt. Theodore Roosevelt is not a member of the Roman Catholic church. He is a member of the Dutch Reformed church, and is a protestant, but his principal rule in the administration of his great office, as far as it affects churches, has been announced by himself in his wife and I do not think at this hour that I can do better to illustrate his character than to say what he has said:

"That he wishes, as the president of the United States, to act toward the Roman Catholic church as he would have a president, a Catholic, act toward the Protestant church."

Representative Cochrane pointed out to the Filipinos that by honest hard labor they would uplift themselves. From the soil must come their greatness and fitness and he assured them that they would be protected if it took the last dollar in the treasury and the last soldier in the army.

Rear Admiral Train entertained Secretary Taft and Miss Alice Roosevelt this afternoon at a luncheon party. This evening they were given a reception by the English club.

THREE LIVES SACRIFICE TO A MURDERER'S FRENZY

Chicago Policeman Kills Relative, Fatally Wounds Clerk, and Commits Suicide.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Oscar Benson, a policeman, this afternoon shot and killed his brother-in-law, Maurice Mamer, aged 40, fatally wounded Nicholas Ketten, a clerk in Mamer's grocery store, and then committed suicide. The tragedy was enacted in Mamer's store.

For some time Benson and his brother-in-law have been unfriendly. Today Mamer complained to the police of Benson. The latter heard of the complaint and this afternoon went to Mamer's store, jumped over the counter and throwing his arm about Mamer's neck, placed the revolver against Mamer's head and killed him instantly. Nicholas Ketten, who was in another part of the store, the only known witness of the murder, was shot in the abdomen when he attempted to run from the store. When police reached the place Benson was still living, but died a few minutes afterward. He had placed the revolver in his mouth, the bullet passing through his brain.

MANIFESTO IS DELAYED.

Emperor May Not Proclaim National Assembly Until Christening Day of the Royal Heir.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 10.—The proclamation calling together the national assembly, its meeting with unexpected and undesired delay. It is possible the project will not be ready for issuance Saturday.

After the conclusion of the conference at Peterhof, the experts who were entrusted with the transcribing of the completed project, found a number of incompetencies and omissions due to the haste with which the work of revision was done, and the council of ministers was reconvened. The council will endeavor to bring the project into shape. Possibly the emperor may issue a manifesto outlining the assembly in general terms. But it is stated in high quarters the whole matter may be deferred perhaps until the christening day of Grand Duke Alexis Nicholaievitch, heir to the Russian throne.

TRAIN KILLS AN OCTOGENARIAN

While Crossing Tracks to Care for Wounded Bird Mrs. McDonough Is Run Down.

MANY CASES FOR CORONER

While crossing the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad to care for a small sparrow that had been struck and injured by a stone thrown by a boy, Mrs. Bridget McDonough, aged 85, was struck and instantly killed by a train near her home at Homestead at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The woman was sitting on her doorstep in City Farm lane, a short distance from the railroad, and when she saw a boy hurl a stone and injure a bird she attempted to cross the tracks, not seing an approaching train. Mrs. McDonough was beaten and robbed of a small sum of money by a negro in her home three weeks ago.

Calling her two children, aged 6 and 8 years, into her room yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock, Mrs. Annie Burke, aged 34, of 1911 Larkins alley, South Side, drank carbolic acid and died a few minutes later. The woman had separated from her husband about four weeks ago, and has been having a struggle to make a living for herself and the children. The woman went out yesterday to hunt a new home and after finding some rooms she was refused as a tenant. It is thought this made her despondent. Dr. J. P. Kerr was summoned but was unable to revive her.

James McGill, aged 45, of Liberty avenue, was killed in West End yesterday afternoon by being crushed under a wagon. He was driving a team of four horses. The horse he was riding fell, throwing McGill under him. The lead horses continued to drag the fallen animal and the wagon was drawn over McGill's body.

Joseph Trembecker, aged 23, a Polish miner, was killed by a fall of slate in the mine of the Creighton Coal Company at Creighton yesterday morning.

The inquest into the death of Charles Baker, aged 10, who was shot on August 4 at Oakdale by his brother David, aged 11, was held yesterday at Oakdale, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death. The boys had a dispute over a baseball bat. Charles ran into the house and his brother followed him. David demanded that Charles give him the bat. The boy refused and David picked up a 22-caliber rifle, which he thought was not loaded and pointed it at his brother for the purpose of frightening him. The weapon went off. It was found it had been loaded the day before the accident.

Frank Blaskowitch, aged 25, a laborer, died at the Mercy hospital yesterday from burns received July 25 while at work in the Duquesne Steel works.

Herbert Howell Turner, infant son of Charles M. Turner of 87 Clifton park, Allegheny, died in a street car last evening while in his mother's arms. He had been ill, and it was thought the outing would be beneficial.

Hazel Kenneweg, aged 10, of 1967 Ohio street, Allegheny, died yesterday at her home from burns received Wednesday afternoon while trying to start a fire with oil.

Mrs. Emma Hahn, aged 64, of Heidelburg, died last evening at the Union station from heart disease. With her brother, Julius Shenkel, she was about to leave for Philadelphia for a visit. The woman fell in a faint and was carried to the ladies' waiting room, where she died.

The coroner's jury investigating the cause of the natural gas explosion at 5824 Liberty avenue July 12, which caused the deaths of Thomas Dillon, his wife, Margaret, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pender, found yesterday that the deaths were accidental. It recommended that gas companies use more care in future in laying their lines.

WEXFORD PLANK ROAD WILL BE FREE TODAY

Last Turnpike on Which Toll Is Collected Is to Be Purchased by Commissioners.

The last toll road in the county is to be made free. Commissioners Price and Clark yesterday decided to purchase the Pine Creek and Wexford turnpike. The plank driveway is three and three-fifths miles in length and is being bought for $15,500.

The road runs from Wexford to Keown. The owners of the pike are anxious to sell. They say since the announcement of the freeing of the Butler and Perrysville roads, many patrons of their road have been refusing to pay toll and the keepers have had a great deal of trouble to collect.

The commissioners will this morning go into court with the necessary petition for the freeing of the road. As there is no opposition, it is expected the judges will make the order at once. The commissioners believe the road will be declared free to the public by noon.

THOUSANDS OF M'KEESPORT PEOPLE AT LUNA PARK

McKeesport took possession of Luna park yesterday and last night. Several thousand residents of McKeesport came to Luna on special street cars, and arriving early, stayed late. A special matinee concert of Weber's military band was given in honor of the McKeesport visitors in the afternoon, and last evening many of the visitors from the Tube City assembled in the dancing pavilion where they enjoyed themselves to the limit, until their special cars left.

Chinaman Loses Money and Jewelry.

Sam Kee, a Chinaman, who runs a restaurant at 15 East Lacock street, Allegheny, reported to the North Side police last night that his living apartments on the second floor in the rear of his restaurant were broken into sometime early yesterday morning and burglarized. The burglar broke open a tin box containing $80 in cash, which he stole. He then broke into another room where the Chinaman kept his trunk and stole from it a gold watch and several pieces of Chinese jewelry and coins.

HEAT OPPRESSES MANY; NOBODY CAN TELL WHY

Temperature Not So High, Humidity Not So Great, Yet People Swelter.

It was not very hot yesterday, so the thermometer said, but somehow many persons in the downtown district complained that the heat was as oppressive as it has been any day this summer. The highest the thermometer reached was 85 degrees, a good deal below the hottest weather of the season.

Visitors to the weather bureau ascribed the oppressiveness to the humidity were referred to the day's records, which showed that the humidity was 72, and were told that on some of the hot days this summer the humidity was as high as 95. Therefore, it was argued, the great heat could not be ascribed to the temperature or humidity, so perhaps it was the contrast with the cooler weather of the preceding few days, that made the day seem hot.

There were two prostrations by the heat in the morning. J. T. Kamp of 1839 Wylie avenue, was walking along Fifth avenue, and at Stevenson street he fell to the ground. Unconscious, he was carried into a drugstore, and was later removed to his home. Michael Brozarski of Washington avenue, Braddock, employed at the Edgar Thomson steel works, was overcome by the heat. Two company physicians worked over him four hours until he was declared out of danger.

Benjamin Kalch, aged 8, sought relief from the heat by going swimming in the Ohio river and drowned. His body was recovered. The boy lived in Schoenville.

The following is a record of the thermometer for the day: 8 a. m., 74 degrees; 9, 78; 10, 81; 11, 83; 12, 84; 1 p. m., 85; 2, 85; 3, 85; 4, 82; 5, 82; 6, 81; 7, 81; 8, 80.

At 3 p. m. the humidity was declared at the weather bureau to be 68, and at 10 o'clock it began to rain. The atmosphere became somewhat cooler.

No particular relief is promised for today by the official forecast from Washington, except that it will be cloudy. Cooler weather is promised for tomorrow.

Just before the rain it was pretty hot and Policeman James Kearney saw James Shaffer, a small boy, stealing away from the market house with a watermelon. Shaffer was arrested as a suspicious person, and Kearney reported unofficially that he had been induced by the hot weather to seek relief in watermelon.

FORMER POSTMASTER GRIER REPORTED DYING

Allegheny Who Was Twice Controller of County Was Sinking Rapidly Last Night.

It was reported at the Dixmont asylum for the insane at 10 o'clock last night that James A. Grier, former postmaster of Allegheny, was in a dying condition and would not likely survive until this morning. Later in the night all communication with Dixmont was cut off and it was impossible to learn anything further concerning Mr. Grier.

For many years Mr. Grier was prominent in Allegheny county politics and served two terms as county controller. He was appointed postmaster of Allegheny in 1898 by President William McKinley and was reappointed in 1902 by President Roosevelt. Mr. Grier's health began failing more than two years ago, and last December he was removed to Dixmont, where his condition gradually became worse.

FERGUSON INTERESTED.

Pittsburgh Attorney Will Go to Buffalo to Argue Against Requisition for Chauffeur Hodge.

Word was received from Buffalo last night that Attorneys J. Scott Ferguson of this city, and Tracy C. Becker of Buffalo, will appear before Gov. Higgins at Albany to argue against the granting of the requisition papers for F. E. Hodge, the chauffeur, who is wanted in this city for running down Angelo Pozzi, an Italian, on the boulevard two weeks ago. Hodge is out on bail and will remain in Buffalo until the extradition question is argued.

Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., will leave for Buffalo this morning to take up the case against Hodge. The chauffeur was arrested in Buffalo again yesterday on information made against him by Detective John F. Lally, who charged him with being a fugitive from justice. The prisoner gave bail for $1,000 and was released. It is said that Hodge has declared his willingness to return to the city when the grand jury has indicted him.

Another Larkin Statement.

Controller John B. Larkin has issued another statement defending his attack on the installation of water meters before the filtration plant is complete, and pipe lines built for the distribution of the water.

THIEVES AT WORK IN POINT BREEZE

Indications That the Residences of Wealthy Citizens Are Being Looted.

SEVERAL HAULS ARE MADE

When the residents of the Point Breeze district who have their houses closed for the summer return next fall they will find in all probability that in a number of instances their houses have been looted. The people in that neighborhood declare that sneak thieves, "second-story men" and others who play at the same craft, have been working successfully among the houses of wealthy residents of that district.

During the last fortnight housebreaking has been a frequent crime in Point Breeze and Homewood. More than half the houses in that neighborhood are closed. Some are in charge of servants and others are locked and dark. While the people "in town" are putting extra bolts on their doors and are buying extra watchdogs to do duty in the place of faithful animals that have been poisoned, they have eyed with suspicion guilty looking men who have been dodging back alleys with packages that are believed to be stolen silverware and bric-a-brac. In one instance three nights ago a man rushed across Thomas boulevard with a valuable Turkish rug upon his shoulder.

On Tuesday night the residence of Sidney Smith at 125 North Linden avenue was entered and $80 in money was taken. Five other houses in the same block were entered during the night, but the thieves failed to locate money and left without doing further damage. Burglars entered the residence of Mrs. A. C. Tagart, 6734 Thomas boulevard, but unwittingly pushed an electric light button and fled precipitately.

In consequence of so many robberies the people have been providing themselves with watchdogs. To make their way easier the thieves have been poisoning the dogs, and several families have found their shaggy guardians lying dead on the threshold which they guarded. L. H. Atkinson of Penn avenue mourns the loss of two dogs which were poisoned on Wednesday night. A resident of North Linden avenue lost a fine watchdog on Monday. They attribute their loss directly to robbers who have designs on housebreaking.

The thieves who are working the Point Breeze district are evidently looking only for money in robbing the occupied houses. In the Smith residence Mr. Smith was about to leave the city on his vacation and left $80 in his trousers pockets; when he woke up in the morning the garments were not disturbed, but the money was gone. He reached in his waistcoat to find some silver coin which he stowed away there, but it, too, was gone. The thieves had gained entrance to the house by breaking open the sash of a kitchen window.

Several persons in Point Breeze have been alarmed by seeing strange men lurking around closed residences. This was taken as a cue for preparation and the police were notified, while the more cautious procured extra locks and bolts. The thieves succeeded in making a successful survey of the Tagart residence, but unwittingly threw a switch which turned on all the electric lights in the house. When they saw their mistake they dashed away, leaving the lights burning like a beacon, which aroused the entire neighborhood.

CHARLES B. PRICE WILL ASK FOR NOMINATION

Announces as a Candidate for Commissioner and Will Go Into Republican Primaries.

Charles B. Price has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county commissioner. He now holds the office by the appointment of the common pleas court judges.

Mr. Price lives in Oakmont. He is the fourth man to qualify for the nomination. The others are I. K. Campbell of Pittsburgh, W. W. Murray of Bridgeville, and Fred Goettmann of Allegheny. William C. Hamilton of Pittsburgh has said he intends to become a candidate.

Threatened objections to the nomination papers of the Independent party of Beechview were put aside yesterday without a hearing. The Independents declared they would object to the Republican papers if they were opposed and both sides decided to drop the matter.

MAY CONVENE COURT-MARTIAL

Alleged Dereliction of Member May Lead Salvation Army Into Unusual Duty.

Paul Fullerton of Camelia street was arrested yesterday in North Highland avenue, and locked up in the East End police station. The colonel in charge of the Salvation Army in the East End district complained to Inspector McAvoy that Fullerton has been collecting goods in the name of the Salvation Army, and disposing of them for his own profit. The police have been looking for Fullerton for several weeks, and yesterday found him with an assortment of goods, ranging from carpets and oilcloths to hair brushes and magazines.

Fullerton is a member of the Army, it is said, and he will be tried before a court-martial of the Salvation Army, after the police charges against him have been concluded. The event will be an unusual one, as the plan of trying Salvation soldiers by court-martial has not been resorted to before. Fullerton denies the charges, and states that he is acting on his own account, and does not represent himself as working in behalf of the army.

Policeman McDonough Is Suspended.

Policeman J. McDonough has been suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer and will be arraigned before the trial board next Wednesday. Inspector McEvoy of the East End district reported McDonough with being intoxicated when he attempted to make an arrest in East End Wednesday night, which almost resulted in a riot. The policeman got into a dispute with C. C. McGee of Culver street, and beat him with his mace. McGee has preferred a charge of aggravated assault and battery against McDonough.

MAYOR HAYS INDORSES ALL MOKE'S INJUSTICE

Chief Executive Can See No Reason for Criticism of the Police Magistrate.

Mayor William B. Hays indorses everything done by Police Magistrate George A. Moke. He announces he stands for the dispensation of injustice and can see no cause for the criticism which is daily being heaped on the man in charge of the central station police court.

When asked yesterday if he intended to take notice of the numerous complaints being made against Moke, the mayor made this reply:

"I have not paid much attention to the complaints. I have not noticed anything about his work which would justify the criticism. I have seen what has been printed, but that does not affect me greatly. I think Mr. Moke is attending to his work and can see no reason why I should take any action."

Why Should You Buy Furniture in August

Though August is the last month of the year that you would logically set for the buying of furniture, yet we make it a great furniture month.

To this end we assemble all pieces of furniture of which there are not full sets, dressers that have not toilet tables to match, sideboards that have not tables to match, and so on through a large line of broken pieces. To make room for new and complete sets, and to make trade for the dull month of August, we make the great inducement of an extra concession in price. Therefore, if you have use for a piece of this or that in high-class furniture, you can

PROPOSE TO CHECKMATE DISEASE BEFORE ITS BIRTH

North Side Officials Make Radical Move in Interest of Cleanliness With View to Keeping City in Good Health.

Infectious diseases are to be given no opportunity to thrive in Allegheny. Acting on the theory that "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" Director McIlvain of the department of public works, acting in conjunction with the health officials of the North Side, will throttle death-dealing diseases even before their birth. "If typhoid fever, yellow fever or any other infectious or contagious disease gets a foothold in Allegheny, it will not be because the streets, alleys and sewers of the city of in a filthy condition," says Director McIlvain. He has ordered the white wings in his department to flush every sewer and wash every street and alley in the city. This work is already in progress.

Superintendent McLaughlin of the bureau of health is co-operating with Director McIlvain, and so are the tenement house inspectors, ordinance officers, sidewalk and plug inspectors. The work which has been started is to be kept up at regular intervals right through the months of August, September and October, those being periods when infectious diseases flourish. Speaking of the work which has been so commendably begun Director McIlvain says:

"We have already one of the cleanest cities in the country, but we propose to make it cleaner. I feel confident that, with a strict observance of our plans, no epidemic of any kind will break out. I hope the citizens will help us all they can in looking after the condition of their premises. We are working to have the cleanest city in the country."

Nine cases of typhoid fever and three of scarlet fever were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

Friday, August 11, 1905.

At last Allegheny county is free from toll roads. For some years it has been busy improving the free highways and has thereby been enabled to buy the toll roads on better terms than it could have made previously. These steps are all marking progress of value to the whole people.

It is welcome news that comes from Norway of the arrival of the members of the Zeigler Arctic expedition. But a few days ago there was news that no trace of the party had been found and another tragedy was feared. No record was made by this expedition in penetrating the ice fields, the ship having been lost the first winter by crushing in the pack, but some valuable scientific observations are announced.

Prosecutions have been started against the dealers in meats preserved by means contrary to law. If these actions are followed in good faith they should result in improvement of the food supply in this state. The investigations of Commissioner Warren have been extensive and exhaustive, showing the sale of meat that he characterizes as absolutely poisonous. If this charge is substantiated the punishment cannot be made too severe.

Japan has submitted its peace terms to Russia, through the envoys at Portsmouth. Just what these terms are no one may know certainly until publication is authorized. M. Witte and Baron Rosen will examine them and reply. The reply will indicate whether peace is a near probability. In the meantime it is idle to speculate and it is unwise to give weight to any of the rumors set afloat, either because there is no authentic information, or in the hope of bringing about some diplomatic advantage. The real news can be recognized when it comes.

There has been a revolt among public employes in Allegheny against payment of another 2 per cent assessment for political purposes. The men complain these assessments are made too frequently and in this instance they do not see what advantage it is to them to pay for the boom of some particular candidate for county office. The men are right in refusing to contribute. Any attempt at compulsion will be a violation of state law, punishable according to the terms of the statute. If the Allegheny city employes stand together they need not give to the city machine the money they are paid for services to the public.

President Roosevelt's speech at Wilkesbarre yesterday was one of those plain talks that have helped to give him his great popularity. Speaking under the auspices of the Total Abstinence society Mr. Roosevelt devoted his chief attention to temperance, to the spirit of self-respect that prevents a man from ruining his life and heaping hardships on his family for the gratification of a low appetite. He touched the situation in the coal region a bit more intimately by his hearty indorsement of trades unions, "wisely handled," without really departing from his main topic. Temperance in all things is a good motto.

Controller Larkin returns to the attack on water meters with the sapient remark that water cannot be measured until it is distributed. Very true. It is equally true that water cannot be distributed by city mains until it is pumped. Unless the shameful waste that is going on in this city is stopped by metering the service there will be no water to distribute through new mains unless the pumping capacity is increased. The filtration plant is limited in capacity and if water is to be distributed without regard to quantity the plant will soon have to be enlarged. Metering of the service is important as a step preliminary to filtration of the supply and was specifically provided for in the last filtration bond issue. It must go hand in hand with enlargement of facilities for distribution.

Mayor Hays denies any intention to remove or correct Magistrate Moke of Central station. The mayor intimates there is nothing wrong in the Moke dispensation of justice and no reason why the chief executive should interfere. As the mayor alone has the power of appointment and removal of police magistrates, this declaration brings the matter to the point assumed by The Gazette the other day. There is no hope of relief from the misdirection of police justice during the present administration. If the people desire to have the laws enforced by the police bureau and justice administered by the police courts they will have to instal an administration in sympathy with that purpose.

Mr. Brennen's Achievement.

What a relief it must be, during these torrid days, to the Hon. William J. Brennen that he is no longer carrying the whole load. With what delight he can go to the shore and roll in the surf in the cheerful sense of having his task well done. Just a few short weeks ago Mr. Brennen was the Democratic party in Allegheny county, charged with the duty of selecting candidates for public office who could be dove-tailed in on a ticket with certain other candidates chosen by the Citizens party bosses. How well and how gracefully Mr. Brennen performed that task is known of all men. What a struggle the other fellows are having to complete the ticket is one of the topics of the town.

Hardly ever has this county witnessed anything equal to the performance of the Hon. William J. Brennen in making a ticket. There have been slates and slates, all liable to breakage. Mr. Brennen served an apprenticeship in making those things and learned by experience how easy it is to crack one. That is why he undertook to make a ticket direct. No slates for him. The trouble began when some wise guy undertook to attach a slate to Mr. Brennen's cast iron list.

Just when the Democratic-Citizens ticket will be completed no man can tell. Had Mr. Brennen been asked to do the whole thing it would have been done long ago. He could have done it all as easy as a part and could have enjoyed the surf during the torrid days with more comfort. Mr. Brennen knows the ropes and he knows every political hack in the county. He had but to tie the bunch together. When one contemplates what he has done and thinks of how he did it, the wonder grows.

Kansas Oil Deals.

In as far as the project for a pipe line from Kansas to the Gulf has been abandoned, it has been due to a failure of the Kansas producers to "make good." The deal was inaugurated last March when Kansas was demolishing Standard Oil and indulging other hysterics that made capital shy about Sunflower state investments. The proposition made to the producers was on sound business principles. The producers professed willingness to meet the terms and some of them suggested making sacrifices, even, to worst the Standard monopoly. In the final stages they have not lived up to their purely business promises, simply because they imagine they may get larger profits by some other course. The Levy pipe line to Kansas City fell through for similar reasons. It looked good while the Prairie company was refusing to take all of the oil at any price because it could not handle it.

Thus Kansas has about reached the end of its oil agitation. The rumpus was mercenary in the beginning. Practically every measure proposed for relief from over production and lack of facilities has fallen through the cupidity or ignorance of the Kansas operators. The oilmen from other fields with the experience of years recognized the real trouble from the first. Such of them as entered the various independent pipe line and refinery projects have been ready to meet their contracts. The failures have been on the part of Kansans and "tenderfeet" who were the loudest shouters for legislative relief.

There are men in Kansas yet who do not realize the absurdity of the state refinery plan for giving relief. As that hair-brained project has been knocked out by the state supreme court those persons will probably always believe a state refinery would have boomed the price of crude oil to producers and reduced the price of refined to consumers, though it could not possibly have done either the one thing or the other. These same people will accept the theory that other measures for relief have been killed arbitrarily though to everyone else it is apparent they have fallen victims to Kansas sharp practice.

Our Stake in Peace.

The bankers of the United States may not have a prominent part in financing the Russian war indemnity, but as a nation we have as great a stake as any outside the belligerents in the negotiation of a lasting peace between Russia and Japan. Ten years ago the Japanese Steamship Company established a regular service between oriental and Pacific coast ports, and this trade has so expanded as to require additional ships trading between Seattle and Japanese and Chinese ports. James J. Hill, president of the Northern Securities Company, who has admittedly done more for the development of the transportation interests of the great northwest than any other one man, is probably best qualified to speak of the probable fruits of the present peace conference. In an article in the current number of World's Work he makes this statement: "Presuming that Japan will come to be a great commercial nation, American trade on the Pacific should soon rival that on the Atlantic."

By nature Mr. Hill is not an optimist. On the contrary, he has been described as a student of poetic melancholy, because some of his plans have been interfered with by the supreme court of the United States. The statement which he makes, therefore, is in the nature of an extraordinary prediction. The qualifying premises, "presuming that Japan will come to be a great commercial nation," scarcely weakens the prediction, because all the official utterances of Japanese statesmen clearly define the national ambition of Japan. Count Katsura, the Japanese premier and spokesman of the party in power, says "Japan has no ambition save to preserve her national independence and integrity. We do not seek territorial aggrandizement. Politically and otherwise our policy in the far east will be in exact accord with that of England and the United States. We shall try no original experiments which do not meet the approval of those countries." Count Okuma, the spokesman of the opposition party in Japan, also asserts that Japan intends for her own good and the good of the world heartily to cooperate with all nations "in forcing on Korea and China the same benefits of modern development that have in the past been forced on her" (Japan).

With political and business relations between the United States and Japan already firmly established on a friendly basis, this country will be in a favorable position to benefit by the commercial development of the orient which will follow the ending of the present war. The possibilities of the situation which will make the commerce of the Pacific rival that of the Atlantic can hardly be grasped by the ordinary intelligence.

Another Chicago Professor.

If Chicago university were in Kansas, it might explain some things about that institution. It isn't in Kansas, however, and so the country at large isn't likely ever to lack food for discussion and matter for mirth. When Kansas takes a day off, Chicago university trots out one of its professors to do a freak specialty. It was the university's turn last, and Prof. Starr told his class in anthropology that "in those races in which children are brought up wholly under the direction of the mother there is more barbarity than in those races where the young are reared under the guiding influence of the father." He concluded with the confession that he had himself been brought up by his mother, and that he wouldn't have been so barbarous if his father had brought him up.

Prof. Starr is even more temerarious than Dr. Osler. Osler proposed to chloroform the old men, who have neither the physical strength nor the organization to wreak revenge. Prof. Starr lays himself open to the attacks of all the mothers-in-law and stepmothers, to whose ferocity fairy tales and humorous journals bear witness. Worse than all, he will get the National Congress of Mothers after him when it meets again. The hand that rocks the cradle wields the slipper, Prof. Starr will learn to his sorrow. We do not know whether the contracts entered into by Chicago educators oblige them to run such risks at the orders of the publicity department, but we feel sincerely sorry for Prof. Starr. When recriminations and resolutions are hurled at his devoted head, all asserting that he will be sorry he spoke. He will be fortunate indeed if it stops with recriminations and resolutions, and doesn't go on to rolling-pins and potato-mashers. However, what fate may befal him is well deserved. And while he still enjoys the balmy breezes of Lake Michigan, singing "Just before the battle, mother," the people of the country should consider having Chicago university moved to Kansas, or they'll get intellectual strabismus watching both places at the same time.

A mother is a mother still
The holiest thing alive,

Forty-four governors have replied to Gov. Pennypacker's invitation to have a conference on the laws of marriage and divorce. It is a great country with forty-five stars on the flag.

A Cincinnati clergyman has chosen the quick road to notoriety by saying harsh things about Rockefeller. There is little of the Christian spirit of charity displayed in these outbreaks.

Just wait till the party of Ryan and Donnelly gets control in Philadelphia and the Democratic state machine is in the saddle. Then there will be reform with a trill on both rs.

Papers are being prepared for a suit against Director Moore to compel action on street car fenders. This is one way to make a reluctant administration perform its duties.

Robbery of a postoffice in Radom, Poland, by masked men is reported with accessories suggestive, at once, of a western hold-up and a southern lynching by the "best citizens."

Police scandals continue to crop out every day or two, but some people are too busy with developments in Philadelphia to give them any attention.

Ten train loads from Pittsburgh to Atlantic City, yesterday, is an indication that the warm wave is welcome to many.

Another polar expedition has been rescued in good health, but Andree's balloon has not come back.

Allegheny payrollers have reached a point where it appears cheaper to revolt than to pay, pay, pay.

August is demonstrating its right to be classed as a summer month. No sun spots on it, now.

Controller Larkin continues his demand for more water pipes without water to put in them.

Rumors about Japanese demands are subject to revision on receipt of official information.

War has been declared against the dealers in medicated meats. Pure meat or none.

The rescue of the Zeigler expedition will make more room for Peary up toward the pole.

Poor Kansas! Nobody wants to give up good money for false sentiment.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The old fogy is with us now, he ever has been, and he ever will be.

This would hardly be a right world without him, not that he is of much account, but that there is a place for him.

He is often a pretty good sort of a fellow, and if he had a little more ginger in his makeup he would be a sure enough good fellow.

You know him more or less intimately, no doubt, and rather like him, too, because he is usually quite harmless, or at least, he is never perniciously active.

The fogy, old or young, is simply an imperfect human machine, and at best can only be rated as second class. Being short on some particular element, or the elements of his nature are improperly mixed, he is not capable of progressing as rapidly as some of his fellows.

Then there are others in whom the elements are so mixed that they are forever trying to get ahead of the procession. Some do jump the limits and make forays into new and untried fields, and the tales they tell of the things they saw and heard or otherwise sensed, are hooted and scouted by the steady, orderly plodders.

These are sometimes called fogies, but oftener fools. And yet time, the great revealer of things, proves them to have been wiser than their day and generation.

You may have noticed that wherever our practical investigators go they find the track of those who had been there before.

This fact may have led to that oft repeated saying that there is no new thing under the sun, for it simply means that everything that is said to be new was known beforetime, long enough, maybe.

The forager or bummer who kept as far in advance of the army as possible, not only as far as was really safe, but as far as he could go, was of great assistance to the director of the campaign as well as of great use to the commissary, but he got little praise from either, and was not allowed any of the credit for the success of the army.

Sherman's bummers did more to shape the march to the sea than they will ever get credit for, not that the general was averse to giving credit where credit was due, but because they were acting without orders, or had not been sent to do a specific work.

These daring outriders would sometimes compel the enemy to show his strength, or by the boldness of their manner lead him to believe they were the advance guard of the invading army. In order to meet an attack at this unexpected point the opposing army would have to shift its position, or change its front entirely or maybe skedaddle.

It can truly be said that Sherman never reached a point where these adventurous bummers had not been long before he got there.

What was most singular about these bummers was their modesty. They never boasted of what they did nor did they ever claim a share of the glory so cheerfully and lavishly showered on Gen. Sherman and his commanders.

It is even so in the field of science. The men who were there long before the head of the advancing column came in sight are so modest that they have to be dragged out and introduced to the world.

Here is a case in point and it is only one of many. The Paris correspondent of London Truth writes:

"While on scientific subjects, I must not neglect the lecture of Dr. Edward Branly, who is less well-known beyond the French frontiers than he deserves to be. This is due, I dare say, to his modesty, and his want of talent as a self-advertiser. In this country he is regarded as the real inventor of wireless telegraphy. The discovery of the sensitiveness of metallic powders to hertzian waves is indisputably his. I wish I could do without technical words, but I cannot, and so must say that Dr. Branly made the first "coherer" with a goose quill, and was the first to announce that this simple apparatus would tell of the existence of hertzian waves at distance. He has become, with the pecuniary aid of the French government, the specialist of wireless telegraphy in France."

We are free to call those old fogies, or fools, who still believe that the walls of Jericho were flattened by blasts from round horns, but from late experiments it seems possible to do this very thing. This same correspondent, who is everywhere credited with being reliable, send the following item:

"Those rams'-horn trumpets that flattened to the ground the walls of Jericho may have after all been within the range of human means. A young French inventor, M. Dessaud, who devotes himself to science in a country retreat, has, under M. Berthelot's patronage, shown the Academy of Sciences how a sound ray may be multiplied to infinity. He has devised an apparatus both simple and ingenious—not larger than a phonograph—by means of which a whisper will be magnified into a shout.

"There are microphones that can do this, but M. Dessaud's apparatus, which is purely mechanical, no electrical current being used, is merely in the experimental stage, and he hopes to so improve it as to make the walking of a green bug, or the pulsations of its body audible.

"What would happen were such a sound-multiplier placed in front of a roaring gust of wind, of a thundering high tide, of the Trollhattan, the Victoria-Zambesi, or the Niagara waterfall, I fear to conjecture. The atmospheric disturbance caused by a portable sound magnifier will break windows at some distance. Rationalists may ask whether the sacerdotal army that marched under Joshua against Jericho did not employ sound magnifiers. The art of the Egyptians from which Moses and his lieutenant would have borrowed must have been great.

"However this might have been, M. Berthelot says there is nothing conjectural in the power M. Dessaud claimed for his invention. One must bow to such an authority, and think of the best educational and other means for banishing all taste for cruelty and destruction from the hearts, brains, and inherited instincts of the rising generation."

These old timers were onto some things which our best talent has failed to master.

There is Toledo steel, for instance, from which those famous Toledo blades were made, the best swords in point of temper and flexibility ever known. We have after long years, centuries in fact, succeeded only in approximating the perfection of this wonderful brand of steel.

Then there is that remarkable Roman cement used in the construction of the great aqueducts, viaducts and walls about Rome. This cement has outlasted the sandstone and the granite used in these great works.

When crushed it appears to be as fresh and as lively as if it had only been used a year or two ago. Chemists have long puzzled their heads over it, but only within a few years have they been able to give a formula for a cement that approximates it in strength and lasting qualities.

A Chance for Simplicity.

The Tribune calls attention to the fact that there is no hope for a return to Jeffersonian simplicity of living. Even Watterson is becoming reconciled to existing things, though his heart, of course, still yearns for the post to which the sage of Monticello hitched his horse. Perish the sacrilegious thought that Jefferson would buy an "auto" were he alive today! However, the Kentucky colonel might be consistent and go to Europe in a sailing ship. As the horse is not yet extinct, he might ride, as it were, to and fro. Simplicity is still possible to those who must and will have it.—Brooklyn Eagle.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The story of the nerve of a young New York woman, Miss Elizabeth Thielman, who took charge of her father's contracting at the time of his death two years ago, and paid all his debts, leaving his name unsmirched instead of with a stain of $50,000 in debts, was told in a suit brought to collect the price of a lot of bluestone that was delivered to the girl contractor. She paid for all the stone that was in condition to be used, but put in a counter claim for the cost of dressing a large part of the consignment.

Building Commissioner Hopper told of the young woman's success as a contractor, and said it was upon his advice that she refused to pay for the stone that did not come up to specifications. Miss Thielman has finished the contracts her father had on hand at the time of his death, and will quit the business. She had absolutely no business experience when she undertook the task, but depended upon her native intelligence and some advice from Mr. Hopper, who was her father's friend. She spent nearly all her time on the work being done, and watched the men closely to see that they did not shirk. The result is that she came out with flying colors, and clears her dead father's name in the business world. She is now in the Maine woods enjoying a well-earned rest.

Great Crowds Cheer President.

Notwithstanding the frequent trips President Roosevelt makes through the city, he is always sure of a warm welcome from a big crowd of people. It is not necessary for crowds to gather around the railroad stations in New York—they are always there as a matter of course. Today when the president passed through on his way to Wilkesbarre, the crowd was at the Pennsylvania terminal, and there were loud cheers for the popular chief executive. He was only passing through and did not stop to shake hands, but the crowd seemed well satisfied to see him hesitate an instant and lift his hat before rushing to the special train that was to carry him to the land of anthracite.

Teachers Wanted for State Prisons.

New York state is looking for a few teachers who are willing to go to prison for a consideration. The last legislature passed a law establishing a department of education for the state prisons. There will be a teacher in each institution, as well as several assistants. The civil service board will hold an examination at Albany August 17. The superintendents will grade the prisoners in September, and then school will be opened. There have been educational features in the prisons heretofore, but only under the management of the wardens. It is proposed now to make it a more important feature of the work of reform.

Looking Out for Typhoid Germs.

Representatives of the board of health spent today at Bath Beach and Bensonhurst seeking typhoid fever germs. The epidemic in those shore resorts has been charged to bathing in water in which sewage has been dumped, and doctors have ordered people to keep away from this point of the beach. It has also been decided that much of the trouble comes from artesian wells which have been used so long that they have drained the underground water supply and are draining the surface. A stagnant lake in the neighborhood is believed to be largely to blame.

City's Milk Supply Also Watched.

Another thing that is keeping the city health department busy these days is the milk supply, that part of it which goes to the dwellers of the tenements. More than 13,000 quarts of milk has been condemned by the department and destroyed since August 1. More than 1,000 men are at work on the investigation, which is almost constant. Poor milk is given as the cause of many deaths among the children of the poor, and the department is trying to overcome this. Dr. Darlington says he is doing his utmost to trap the venders of impure milk.

Saved Through Patriotism.

A patriotic Irishman saved the life of a parrot in the bay this morning. The parrot had been thrown overboard from the French liner La Gascogne by Salvator Damato, who had brought the bird with him from Mexico and intended to take it to sunny Italy. When told that the bird's passage would cost him $1, Damato became angry and chucked it overboard without the formality of taking it out of its cage and giving it a chance for its life. The moment the bird struck the water he began to utter protests in Spanish, shouting "Get me out, get me out." Though he couldn't understand what the bird said, an Irish longshoreman saw the glint of green and rushed in a boat to the rescue. Now he owns a parrot with an Irish hue and a Spanish vocabulary.

Great Day for Fishermen.

There are say fishing parties off the Battery today. That is the parties are hopeful, and once in a while they are jubilant, for if they catch what they are looking for they get nothing less than a barrel of fancy potatoes, the best Long Island variety at that. This is because the steam lighter Dandy, used in loading the steamship Santiago yesterday afternoon at Prentice's stores, Brooklyn, spilled half her load of barrels that were destined for Cuban ports. The tide bore the barrels toward the Battery, and all night tugs and rowboats nosed around grappling in the darkness for them. John McGrath rigged up a block and tackle at the Staten Island ferry slip and hoisted out 25 barrels. A tug got 12 and there are lots of others carefully towed away.

M. WITTE THE MAN

At last, willingly or unwillingly, the powers that be in Russia, which is not one-man power, whatever else it may be, selected Serge Julievich Witte, the maker of modern Russia, as the chief plenipotentiary to the peace conference. The patriotic duty now devolves on Witte to save what he can from the wreckage of an unsuccessful war, the inception of which he combatted with a vigor and a boldness which led the St. Petersburg courtiers to rub their hands with glee and say: "Witte has killed himself: the house of Romanoff can never forgive such unruly opposition; he is finished." And so, courtier-like, they passed him by with averted faces or with supercilious smiles. Whether they have forgiven him or not is another matter and remains to be seen, but they sit at his feet today and no other man counts for so much in the empire as he. It has been said of Witte that every step in advance he has made is the result of a personal controversy fought out to a successful finish. Whether this be true or not, it is certain that the man who holds the destinies of Russia in his hands today is a fighter, and not a colorless compromiser who has attained power by making concessions to those who could hasten or retard his advancement.

Entering the Service.

The story of how at last he entered the government service and "got in the running," as it were, is illustrative of the man and of the adverse conditions against which he successfully contended. It chanced that during the critical days before Plevna, when Osman Pacha had fought the Russians to a standstill and apparently checkmated their march upon the Bosphorous, two trains claimed the right-of-way over that vital section of the railway where Witte was in control—one train carried provisions and munitions of war for the front, where they were greatly needed, the other a certain magnificent but useless personage, who was anxious to get as near to the front as he could without endangering his precious person. Witte never hesitated for a moment. He gave the provision train the right of way and sidetracked the train carrying the illustrious personage in a swampy siding, which was unfortunately infested by mosquitoes. Witte's official head was immediately demanded and readily given. The directors of the private railway were thunderstruck at the subordinate's audacity and gave him a curt dismissal. But Witte was not a man to be dismayed or to lose courage in the face of blindly placed enemies. He determined to carry the matter before the czar, and wonderful to relate, he succeeded in doing so. Fortunately for the young railroad man, the Czar Alexander had been in the trenches before Plevna himself. He knew that provisions were needed there and not gaudily uniformed personages. He summoned Witte to his presence and at the end of his audience handed him a commission as a high official in the railway ministry. From that red letter day to this Witte's career has not been plain sailing. In real life it probably never is.

Witte's Ancestry.

Superserviceable friends have traced the great statesman's family tree back to the Wittes of Holland, who were distinguished in the wars and the statecraft of the low countries in the days of Charles V. and Philip II., but this pedigree, whether spurious or authentic, was of little use to Witte in his early days. He was the son of a man who was considered a German and was undoubtedly a storekeeper and not a rich one. In spite of these handicaps he became in 1888 head of the railway department, shortly afterwards minister of railways, then in succession chairman of the tariff commission, which tried to build a protective wall around the infant industries of the great agricultural empire; then minister of finance, and at last the highest rung of the ladder—imperial chancellor. From first to last, from porter to prime minister, he never received a promotion because people liked him and wanted to push him, but simply because he made himself indispensable and there was no help for it; he had to be advanced, though a "German" and the son of a shopkeeper, though a rough, plainspoken and, to be strictly truthful, a somewhat uncouth man, even for a member of the middle class in Russia.

And today this Dutchman, born in Asia, and in the service of Russia, comes to America to take part in the conference upon the result of which the world's peace depends, not by favor of princes or the vote of the masses, but simply because it is recognized that he is the most available man of all the millions of Russians for the onerous, thankless task which lies before him.

If "Who's Who" were in vogue in Russia, Witte would have to confess to his amusements, or rather his recreation. He loves a locomotive, and when minister of railways he traveled all over the empire on an engine with a single caboose attached. When he takes a half holiday he spends it likely as not, upon a locomotive cab, talking over railway matters with the grizzled engineer and sharing his black bread, cheese and vodka. When the great financier went to Paris and interviewed the bankers there they were shocked at his clothes, which were rusty and ill-fashioned. Soon, however, the overpowering genius of the man showed itself and such matters as clothes and manners were forgotten.

Some of Witte's Schemes.

Some of Witte's schemes have savored of state socialism, and he has never shrunk from exposing the corruption of the bureaucratic system whenever he was justified in so doing. His work on the great committee appointed in 1902 to investigate the agricultural and industrial depression of Russia was denounced as revolutionary by his enemies, but it was not—Witte is not a revolutionist. It was anti-revolutionary, in the sense that Witte wished to rob the "reds" of their just grounds for complaint. It is probably his opinion that if a socialist cataclysm should bring underground Russia into power the revolutionaries would make as great a mess of it as did the mutineers of the Black Sea on the bloodstained Kniaz Potemkine. Indeed, while the former chancellor has liberal leanings and wishes to have the people of Russia enjoy some measure of self-government, after they have been educated up to the responsibilities of their new position, he is the greatest enemy of the revolutionary movement in that he shows by his life and his achievements that the bureaucratic system under an autocrat is not entirely rotten.

Many reasons are assigned for the frequent changes which have been made in the personnel of the Russian peace embassy. As chief of the mission M. de Nelidoff gave place to M. Mouravieff and the latter has given way to the disgraced and despised M. de Witte, who, it was confidently announced less than a month ago from St. Petersburg, and upon the best authority, would never again hold office or enjoy in the slightest measure the confidence of his sovereign. For, after all, imperial nature is very like human nature, and it must be very unpleasant to have around and come in contact daily with the statesman who two, and even three years ago sounded the alarm and prophesied the dangers which menaced Russia from the Manchurian adventure.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES

Pittsburgh Goes to Seashore.

Pittsburgh went to the seashore at Atlantic City yesterday—that is, a goodly portion of Pittsburgh's population, about 1 per cent. It was the biggest excursion in history from Pittsburgh over any railroad to the noted resort. Could accommodations have been provided for handling more people, it is probable that the number would have been possibly 1,000, but as it was there were 1,000 persons hauled by the Pennsylvania yesterday and last night. To make up ten extra passenger trains, even when plenty of time beforehand is given for arranging for handling such a crowd, is a task that requires much thought on the part of the operating department of those of the railroads. Coaches and Pullman parlor and sleeping cars are needed at a hundred and one places to care for the regular and special travel to as many resorts in the mountains or lakes or seashore. For such an excursion as that conducted by the Pennsylvania yesterday it is necessary to have on hand and ready for service at once about 50 coaches and as many parlor and sleeping cars. There were four coach trains yesterday, two parlor car trains and three sleeping car trains, all extra to the regular service, and run through from Pittsburgh to Atlantic City. The people came and willingly paid the price—$10 for the day coach ride to and from Atlantic City, with a stay of ten days allowed there. But there were a great many people who forgot that they would have to go for their tickets early, and some of those who could not be accommodated raged about until they saw it was their own fault. Blessing ear reservations, of course, were taken early, and it took just 31 cars to handle this travel alone.

"Anything in an Outside Room."

"Got anything in an outside room?" asked a road at the Colonial desk about 10:30 o'clock last evening.

"We have 150 people and furniture in as many rooms," remarked the clerk.

The man could be recognized at a glance as one of those genial fellows who can take a joke in the right way, and he smiled as he said: "Well, guess I'll have to keep on going. This is the third that I have tried. The hotels ought to have nothing but outside rooms, and all of them ought to be movable—located up on Mount Washington in the summer and down in the canyons here in the winter."

The man's fourth attempt to find an outside room was successful, and he doubtless had a good rest for the night after the slight rain cooled the atmosphere for a few hours. The request for outside rooms came with every name registered, and the names on the registers increased in number until some of the hotels had only a couple of inside rooms to assign.

Instead of buying cheap, flimsy covered Bibles, lawyers, notaries, magistrates and others who are required to take affidavits supply themselves with strongly-bound second-hand editions. A swearing Bible comes in for rough usage and a well-bound second-hand book, which can be bought for a fraction of its original price, will outlast a half-dozen cheap copies. CITY PAYS FOR PRIVATE WORK

Two Patrolmen, Ostensibly on Regular Beats, Act as Watchmen Over a Glass House.

PUTTING BLAME ON MOORE

Serious charges were brought yesterday by a committee of the American Flint Glassworkers' union, who charge that two policemen, on duty at the Macbeth-Evans Company's glass plant at South Eighth and Sarah streets, where a strike is on, are on the city payroll.

The glassworkers say that for five months the two policemen, Thomas Faulkner and M. F. Mahoney, have been doing duty at the glass plant, one at night, the other by day; that for four months the Macbeth-Evans company paid them their wages, but that, beginning July 1, the men were placed on the city payroll, thus relieving the company of much expense.

The glassworkers have been slow in acting, but that was because they were waiting until Mahoney and Faulkner drew their city warrants. Four months ago the committee called on Controller Larkin and told him the glassworkers' suspicions. The controller looked over the police payroll and told the committee that the men were not on it. A month later there was the same result and twice more the controller made the same report. At last the glassworkers' vigil was rewarded. Last week they called on the controller again and were informed that Mahoney and Faulkner were on the payrolls for a month's work. The matter was kept secret until the two policemen drew their warrants and was then made public.

Called on the Sergeant.

An examination in the controller's office shows that Faulkner and Mahoney were both paid by the city. Mahoney being on the roll as assigned to beat 55, his name being sent down from police station No. 2 in Center avenue, while Faulkner is down as being assigned to a South Side beat on the roll sent in from No. 7, the South Thirteenth street police station.

An interesting state of affairs was developed by an investigation. Sergeant Jacobs of the South Thirteenth street police station was visited in the office yesterday by a committee of the flint glassworkers, who demanded that they be allowed to look at the station's duplicate payroll for July. Jacobs very properly told the men that they had no right to see the payrolls unless they got an order from his superiors and also politely declined to give them any information.

There is one man, however, who is not so reticent, and that is former Captain Frederick, who sometime ago resigned from the service. Capt. Frederick was asked what he knew about the affair and he said:

Frederick's Story is Interesting.

For several months Mahoney and Faulkner had been employed as special policemen at the Macbeth-Evans glass works, the company paying them for their services. One worked from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m. and the other from 6 p. m. until 6 a. m. Policemen on special duty of that kind are supposed to work only eight hours a day, and for every hour they serve over that time they receive 37½ cents an hour. So, for four months, they each made $4 50 for 12 hours' work. Had there been rioting at the plant it would have been only proper for the city to give the firm protection at the city's expense, but there never was any trouble, as is demonstrated by the fact that in the whole five months not a single arest was made. Special payrolls were made out each month at No. 7 police station for Mahoney and Faulkner, and the station sergeants sent the payrolls over to A. F. Karr, the property clerk of the bureau of police, Karr having charge of the special payrolls. These payrolls were sent to the Macbeth-Evans Company, which paid the two men. About the middle of June Police Inspector Werner told me that beginning in July no special payroll was to be made out; that Faulkner and Mahoney were to be placed on the regular police payroll as occupying their beats.

Brings Moore's Name Into It.

I told the inspector that such orders were wrong; that the Macbeth-Evans Company ought to pay for the men, as there was absolutely no necessity for having policemen at the plant at all; that owners of merry-go-rounds, promoters of public balls, Polish wedings and christenings had to pay for policemen assigned to them for protection. Inspector Werner told me he had received his orders and the orders must be obeyed. I questioned him and he told me that A. F. Karr had telephoned to the sergeant at No. 7 station that Director Moore had given orders that the men were to be put on the regular police payroll, but continue at the glass works.

Ask Inspector Werner and he will tell you that the sergeant at No. 7 took over a special payroll, charging the Macbeth-Evans Company for one day's work for the two policemen in July, we all having understood Werner's orders somehow to take effect at a date that still left the company one day's work to pay for. Werner will tell you that the sergeant took that little roll over to Karr and that Karr threw up his hands and exclaimed: "You were told not to make out a special payroll. The old man (meaning Director Moore) will not stand to have the company pay anything any more." So the special payroll was brought back and the day's work was charged up to the city, just as the other 30 days' work of the month had already been charged.

Officers Lost Money.

When Mahoney and Faulkner were paid by the company they made $4.50 a day; working for the city they cannot get more than $3 a day, no matter how many hours they work, and they work 12 hours. So it was pretty bad for them when Director Moore changed the arrangement that had prevailed.

Despite the evidence of the payrolls in Controller Larkin's office Thomas Evans of the glass company said the city did not pay for the two policemen. In verification he produced receipts for June, but the receipts for July were not forthcoming, because they are in the controller's office, the city having paid for July.

James Carr, a member of the executive board of the glassworkers' union, said the committee had called on Superintendent of Police Wallace and he had said, that while he swore to the police payrolls for July, as customary, it was impossible for him to know that two men marked up as working on regular beats were doing special duty for a private corporation. Wallace said the same thing to a reporter and added:

"There will have to be an explanation from somebody."

Director Moore is still out of the city and his version of the story could not be obtained. A. F. Karr admitted that there was no special payroll for Faulkner and Mahoney for July.

Guarded Director's Property.

Residents of the Twenty-seventh ward are amused over the zealousness with which police officers watched over a little house which is owned by Director Moore in the ward. The store was leased by a storekeeper named Hausman. The lease ran out on April 1. Hausman moved away in the middle of March, but retained the keys until April 1. It appears that there was about $5 worth of shelving fixtures in the store and Director Moore suspected that Hausman, who had put up the fixtures, wanted to take them away. At any rate, it is said that from two to three policemen kept watch day and night over the store, the day and night policemen of the beat and sometimes an extra man spending all their time, to see that Hausman did not take the shelving. It is estimated that it cost about $50 to protect the shelving, although Hausman says he had no intention of removing it.

Another "Word Hunt" Next Sunday.

$50.00 IN PRIZES

For Four Words Selected From

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAZETTE

Rules and Conditions of the "Word Hunt."

The hunt consists of selecting four words from the advertisements appearing in next Sunday's issue of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

In selecting such words you are privileged to use each letter of the alphabet four times, but no more.

Each letter of the alphabet has a value in points, according to its location in the alphabet. For example, A is one point; B, two points, C, three points, etc. This would make the letter Z count twenty-six points.

The persons selecting the four words aggregating the greatest number of points (on the basis described above) will receive the prizes. We give below examples to demonstrate the difference in value of words. Take the word "Furniture."

6—21—18—14—9—20—21—18—5
F—U—R—N—I—T—U—R—E

It contains nine letters and represents 133 points, whereas, you take the word "Handkerchief."

8—1—14—4—11—5—18—8—5—9—5—6
H—A—N—D—K—E—R—C—H—I—E—F

It contains twelve letters, which only represent 92 points.

Answers must give the words selected, explain from what ad. they were taken and where the ad. is located in the paper. This is necessary to properly check the answers.

STRUGGLES WITH RAVING MANIAC

Light House Keeper Has Week's Battle With Assistant in Lonely Tower.

WHISKY CAUSES DELIRIUM

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PORT JEFFERSON, L. I., Aug. 10.—It has just become known here that First Assistant Keeper Merrill Hulse of Stratford shoals light, in the sound midway between this harbor and Bridgeport, had a struggle lasting for a week with Julius Coster, the second assistant, who became insane.

According to the official report of Keeper Gilbert L. Ruland, Coster was given a few days' shore leave. Coming to Port Jefferson, he drank heavily. He was rowed out to the light and immediately on his arrival Keeper Ruland started for the mainland, not noticing the condition of Coster.

Soon Coster secured a razor, and lashing the blade in the handle, making a formidable weapon, started out in search of a horde of imaginary enemies. Then he made up his mind he would stop the light. He bid himself, and in the evening went up and stopped the lenses.

Fortunately he only stopped the light from revolving; he could not put it out. It certainly would have menaced the large sound steamers had the light gone out. Hulse fought with Coster in the narrow passageway in the lighthouse, and succeeded in getting him away from that portion of the tower.

Next day the crazy man's delirium took a melancholy turn, and he made up his mind to commit suicide. He took his razor, bound the blade to the handle with a piece of cloth and tried to cut his throat. He made gash after gash, but inflicted only flesh wounds. Not satisfied, he took a heavy pocket knife and stabbed himself in the neck.

After becoming rational Coster begged to have his position back again, but his appeal was not heeded and he left for parts unknown.

DINED BY THE BRITISH.

French Vice Admiral Caillard and Eighty Officers Get Hearty Reception in London.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Vice Admiral Caillard, commander-in-chief of the French fleet, and 80 of his officers arrived in London this afternoon. At the guild hall the visitors were guests of the lord mayor and corporation at luncheon. After luncheon the procession was reformed and proceeded to the French embassy where Admiral Caillard gave a reception to members of the French colony.

The passage of the procession across Trafalgar square was marked by an incident that met with hearty cheers from the spectators. As Admiral Caillard and the other chief French officers came abreast of the Nelson column they slightly turned towards it and looking at the bas-relief, depicting the death of Great Britain's national hero on board the Victory, raised their hands to the salute. Admiral Caillard and his staff dined this evening with Lord Lansdowne.

TAR AND FEATHERS NAMED.

Strike at Sunday Creek Mines Mixes Everybody, from Driver to Minister.

GLOUSTER, O., Aug. 10.—A strike was declared at Mine 256, of the Sunday Creek Coal Company, here today and about 400 men are thrown out of employment for an indefinite period.

John Rothery, a driver, and Superintendent David Williams, Sr., had some words in the course of which Rothery was knocked down. David Williams, Jr., a son of the superintendent, entered the fight, which then became general. The Rev. Morgan Lewis was struck in the face by Williams and bled profusely. There is talk of "tar and feathers." Williams was arrested.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP MAY COME TO PITTSBURGH

PIRATES AGAIN BOSTON VICTIMS

Clarke's Crew Goes to Pieces in the Fourth Inning and Visitors Score Six Runs.

MORAN'S HARD HITTING

The Boston team made it three out of five by taking yesterday's game from the Pirates 7 to 4. In order to get such a result there was some wild and weird playing on the part of the Pirates, particularly in the fourth inning, when the visitors were allowed to score six of their seven runs. It was not the fault of the pitcher these runs were scored, but can be attributed to bad playing on the part of the others.

Case, who was doing the pitching for the Pirates, got away with the first three innings in fine style, and when the locals chalked up three runs in their half of the third the game took on a rosy look from a local standpoint. This did not last long, for the visitors in the next inning went them three better, and the hopes of the fans received a sad blow. Case started the trouble by giving Dolan, the first batter up, a base on balls, and Delehanty followed with an infield single, which should have been an easy out. Cannell followed with a single, filling the bases.

The next play was one which brought rightful howls from the 1,999 spectators. Raymer bunted and Gibson, who was catching, got the ball and, seeing a chance to get a runner at third instead of at first, made the throw, but Brain dropped the ball. In the meantime Dolan had crossed the plate with a run. Lauterborn bunted and Gibson, who secured the ball, made a wild throw, another run scoring. Moran was the next Boston batsman, and he drove the ball to the fence in deep middle field, three runs scoring on the hit. Abbattichio singled, scoring Moran with the sixth run of the inning. Tenney followed with a double, but no more runs were scored.

After the fourth inning Clarke called on Robertaille, and the little fellow pitched in fine form, allowing the visitors only four hits and one run in his five innings of duty. The one run was scored by Moran, who hit to the left field bleachers for three bases, and scored on a single by Abbattichio. The feature of the visitors' play was the batting of Moran, who, out of four times at bat, had three hits, all of them good, healthy three-baggers, and it was this hitting which brought victory to the visitors.

Victor Willis, the elongated twirler, had his second try of the week at the locals, and again showed he was their master. At that, Willis' curves were hit hard enough to win an ordinary game, but with the Pirates doing their level best to give a game away, the hits secured were not enough to overcome the handicap. As usual in this city, the Boston players put up a star game, and gave Willis such excellent support that he was pulled out of two or three ugly holes. This was true in the ninth inning, when the Pirates had the bases filled and a rally looked imminent, but it was neatly nipped.

The locals got to Willis in the third inning, when three runs were scored. Clymer started in with a base on balls and Clarke followed with a single to middle field. Leach poked the ball at Tenney, who allowed it to get through his legs, and Clymer scored on the misplay. Wagner and Howard were easy outs on foul flies, but Brain made good with a single, on which Clarke scored. The double steal was worked nicely by Leach and Brain, Tommy scoring the third run. The Pirates' fourth and last tally was made by Clymer in the seventh, when he beat out an infield bounder and scored on Clarke's long two-base hit to right field.

Hans Wagner was back in the game after his three days' suspension, and as usual put up a fine game, both at bat and in the field. It was thought that Hans' presence would steady the team, but it did not have that effect yesterday. The score:

BRADDOCK TEAM BEATEN IN WAYNESBURG GAME

Series Between Teams Is Now a Tie. Waynesburg to Play Butler for a Large Wager.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WAYNESBURG, Aug. 10.—The Edgar Thomson team of Braddock met defeat here today, at the hands of Koebert's stickers, in the fastest game of the season on the home grounds. Elmer Cannon was pitted against "Lefty" Smith to do the twirling. The visitors were unable to do anything with Cannon's delivery at any stage of the game, while McKim's new find was touched for nine clean hits. The series now stands two victories for each team. The same clubs play here tomorrow.

Boston 1-5—Detroit 2-3.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Detroit won the first of the two games here today by 2 to 1. Boston taking the second 5 to 3. The visitors' bases running and sacrifice hits turned the scale in their favor in the earlier contest. Kitson's inability to put the ball over the plate was the most important factor in the second game. Scores:

New Pitcher for Homestead.

SALEM, O., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Salem baseball team has lost Dwight Faulk, its star pitcher. Last night he signed with Homestead, and he will leave Saturday. Manager Ambler Smith three years ago dug Faulk out of the coal mines at Negley, this county, where he was digging coal at $1.25 a day. Since then "old man Faulk" has made a wonderful record.

SWEET MARIE IS BEATEN BY TIVERTON AT BUFFALO

Results Is a Surprise, and a Big Upset to the Talent—Last Race Also an Upset.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Sweet Marie, 2.04¾, the McKinney mare, which took the measure of Tiverton in their match race in Readville last week, had the tables turned here effectually today in the free-for-all trot, the feature event of the grand circuit at Kenilworth park, when the Galileo Rex stallion took down first money in two first heats in 2.05¾ and 2.06, the mare getting the third in 2.06¾, but after the result of the race had been settled, according to the three-heat plan in operation here. George G. and McKinley completed the quartet which faced the starter for the event, and in the opening pools Sweet Marie sold at $200, with $80 on Tiverton and $20 on the field. The mare got away poorly, but was catching Tiverton in the stretch in the first heat when she broke and finished last. Still Sweet Marie sold favorite at $25 to $20 on the field, but third to Tiverton was the best she could do, and in the last heat McDonald got her stepping through the stretch, and she overhauled and beat Tiverton half a length in a whipping finish.

This blow was one of the worst the talent has suffered at the meeting, although Tiverton was supported handsomely. Those who saw Rafle Mac, Miss Wilkes, Bert Hunter step away with the $10,000

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DELIVERS AN ADDRESS AT WILKESBARRE

He Talks to Catholic Temperance Workers and to the Miners' Union.

DRIVES THROUGH COUNTRY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, Aug. 10.—Thousands of temperance people, mine workers and others gathered here today to hear President Roosevelt and to witness the big parade of the Catholic Total Abstinence union.

The president reached here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the exercises so far as Wilkesbarre were concerned were over an hour and a half later. The president then went for a drive, including a trip to the Wyoming monument. He had intended to return to Wilkesbarre, but at Wyoming he changed the program and drove across the country to Pittston, where he boarded the special, which carried him to Chautauqua.

Surprised the People.

This break in the program afforded a delightful surprise to the people of the country side, who cheered as they recognized the nation's chief.

On the arrival of the president's train at Wilkesbarre in the afternoon a great shout went up from the enormous crowd assembled at the station, which increased into a roar as the president stepped from the train, followed by United States Senator Knox and the other members of the party. The president was met by the local reception committee, which included Father Curran and John Mitchell. The party at once drove to the speakers' stand on the common. The president's reception was a tremendous one.

Introduced by Mitchell.

The president appeared to be extremely pleased at the demonstration. The crowd at the speakers' stand was greater than the one which greeted Mr. Roosevelt at the station and the demonstration was so noisy it took several minutes to quiet the enthusiasm to permit the exercises to begin. Those who spoke were President Roosevelt, Cardinal Gibbons, President Mitchell, Mayor Kirkendall and Father Curran. President Mitchell in introducing Mr. Roosevelt said in part:

The visit of President Roosevelt to the coal fields of Pennsylvania, as the guest of the temperance societies and the United Mine Workers of America, marks an epoch in the civic, social and industrial history of this commonwealth. This occasion is one of peculiar significance to the men for whom I have the honor to speak; it is one that will be long remembered by them, imprinted indelibly upon the hearts of the miners is the recollection of the long contest they made and the great hardships they endured in the year 1902; a contest brought to a happy termination through the intervention and mediation of our distinguished guest.

It is a pleasure to say that largely as a result of his efforts and mainly as a consequence of his action the conditions of life and labor among the anthracite coal mine workers have been materially improved, and the entire people of this community have enjoyed an era of prosperity unprecedented in the history of the hard coal regions.

The president said:

The President's Speech.

I am particularly glad to speak to this audience of miners and their wives and children, and especially to speak under the auspices of this great temperance society. In our country the happiness of all the rest of our people depends most of all upon the welfare of the wage-worker and the welfare of the farmer. If we can secure the welfare of these two classes we can be reasonably certain that the community as a whole will prosper. And we must never forget that the chief factor in securing the welfare alike of wage-worker and of farmer, as of everybody else, must be the man himself.

The only effective way to help anybody is to help him help himself. There are exceptional times when any one of us needs outside help, and then it should be given freely; but normally each one of us must depend upon his own exertions for his own success. Something can be done by wise legislation and by wise and honest administration of the laws; that is, something can be done by our action taken in our collective capacity through the state and the nation.

Man His Own Factor.

Something more can be done by combination and organization among ourselves in our private capacities as citizens, so long as this combination or organization is managed with wisdom and integrity, with insistence upon the rights of those benefited and yet with just regard for the rights of others.

But in the last analysis the factor most influential in determining any man's success must ever be the sum of that man's own qualities, of his knowledge, foresight, thrift and courage. Whatever tends to increase his self-respect, whatever tends to help him overcome the temptations with which all of us are surrounded, is of benefit not only to him but to the whole community.

No one society can do more to help the wage-worker than such a temperance society as that which I am now addressing. It is of incalculable consequence to the man himself that he should be sober and temperate, and it is of even more consequence to his wife and his children; for it is a hard and cruel fact that in this life of ours the sins of the man are often visited most heavily upon those whose welfare should be his one special care.

For the drunkard, for the man who loses his job because he cannot control or will not control his desire for liquor and for vicious pleasure, we have a feeling of anger and contempt mixed with our pity; but for his unfortunate wife and little ones we feel only pity, and that of the deepest and tenderest kind.

Encourage Self-Help.

Everything possible should be done to encourage the growth of that spirit of self-respect, self-restraint, self-reliance, which if it only grows enough is certain to make all those in whom it shows itself move steadily upward toward the highest standard of American citizenship. It is a proud and responsible privilege to be citizens of this great self-governing nation; and each of us needs to keep steadily before his eyes the fact that he is wholly unfit to take part in the work of governing others unless he can first govern himself. He must stand up manfully for his own rights; he must respect the rights of others; he must obey the law, and he must try to live up to those rules of righteousness which are above and behind all laws.

This applies just as much to the man of great wealth as to the man of small means; to the capitalist as to the wage-worker. And as one practical point, let me urge that in the event of any difficulty, especially if it is what is known as a labor trouble, both sides show themselves willing to meet, willing to counsel and anxious each to treat the other reasonably and fairly, each to look at the other's side of the case and to do the other justice. If only this course could be generally followed, the chance of industrial disaster would be minimized.

Now, my friends, I want to read you an extract from a letter I have just received from a Catholic priest whom I know well and whom I know to be as staunch a friend of the laboring man as there is to be found in this country. Now and then—not too often—it is a good thing for all of us to hear what is not perhaps altogether palatable, provided only that the person who tells the truth is our genuine friend. knows what he is talking about (even though he may not see all sides of the case), and tells us what he has to say, not with a desire to hurt our feelings, but with the transparent purpose to do us good. With this foreword, here is a part of the letter:

The Priest's Letter.

"I would humbly recommend that you lend your entire weight to the cause which the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America represents, and especially as in its relation to the welfare of this country, for whom it is doing so much good. You know that the temperance movement is a potent auxiliary to the institutions of our country in building up a better manhood and a truer Christianity among our citizens. It played a very important part in the two great strikes of 1900 and 1902, respectively, by keeping the men sober, and thus removing the danger of riotous and unbecoming conduct. There is one discouraging feature connected with the upward tendency of the wage scale among the workmen of this country. The higher the wages, the more money they spend in saloons. The shorter the hours, the more they are inclined to absent themselves from home. An apparent disregard for family ties is growing among the poorer classes which will eventually lead to a dire end for the blessings our country affords them. Hence, with an increase of wages a corresponding movement for better manhood, nobler citizenship, and truer Christianity should be set on foot. The dignity of labor should be maintained, which can be done only through this law that a man should bless his work, and through the intelligence which he puts into it. A steady hand and sober mind are necessary for this. Hence, the necessity of the temperance cause and of the efforts which organized abstainers are putting into the movement."

The President's Comment.

Now, in what is here written this priest does not mean that the tendency is to grow worse; but he means that with shorter hours and increased wages there is a tendency to go wrong which must be offset by movements such as this great temperance movement and similar efforts for social and civic betterment, or else the increase in leisure and money will prove a curse instead of a blessing. I strive never to tell any one what I do not thoroughly believe, and I shall not say to you that to be honest and temperate, and hardworking, and thrifty will always bring success.

The hand of the Lord is sometimes heavy upon the just as well as upon the unjust, and in the life of labor and effort which we must lead on this earth it is not always possible either by work, by wisdom, or by upright behavior to ward off disaster. But it is most emphatically true that the chance for leading a happy and prosperous life is immensely improved if only the man is decent, sober, industrious and exercises forethought and judgment. Let him remember above all that the performance of duty is the first essential to right living, and that a good type of average family life is the corner stone of national happiness and greatness. No man can be a good citizen, can deserve the respect of his fellows, unless first of all he is a good man in his own family, unless he does his duty faithfully by his wife and children.

I strongly believe in trades unions wisely and justly handled, in which the rightful purpose to benefit those connected with them is not accompanied by a desire to do injustice or wrong to others. I believe in the duty of capitalist and wage-worker to try to see each other's point of view, and to endeavor to show broad and kindly human sympathy one with the other.

I believe in the work of these great temperance organizations, of all kindred movements like the Young Men's and Young Woman's Christian associations, in short, in every movement which strives to help a man by teaching him how to help himself. But most of all I believe in the efficacy of the man himself striving continually to increase his own self-respect by the way in which he does his duty to himself and to his neighbor.

The Dignity of Labor.

Cardinal Gibbons said among other things:

Before the advent of Christ manual labor was degrading. Our blessed Savior came to blot out the primeval curse that had been pronounced upon it. Ever since He labored at Nazareth in the carpenter's shop He has shed a halo around the brow of the workingman—He has sanctified labor.

If the office of the journalist is ennobled by the example of a Washington and Lincoln, if the office of a jurist is ennobled by the example of a Marshall and a Taney, if the function of a statesman is ennobled by the example of a Burke and a Webster, surely the calling of a mechanic and a workingman is sanctified by the example of Jesus Christ.

The workingman, whether he toils with his hands or his brains, is a bee in the social hive. He is an indispensable factor in developing the wealth and resources of his country. He is the benefactor of his race.

The president's mission will be far-reaching in its beneficent influence if he strengthens here the good relations between the employer and the employed. There should be no conflict between labor and capital. They should be united and inseparable.

EAST WAVERLY, N. Y., Aug. 10.—President Roosevelt arrived here on his special train en route to Chautauqua at 9:15 p. m. His train was transferred from the Lehigh Valley to the Erie and proceeded over the lines of the latter to Lakewood, whence the president will go via trolley line to Chautauqua.

The special train will arrive at Lakewood at 2:05 o'clock tomorrow morning. There it will be sidetracked in order that the president may have a comfortable rest until he shall leave for Chautauqua at 8:15 a. m.

Good Record for One Year.

The floor was set yesterday for the barn at the Pittsburgh Home for Babies in Center avenue. This means a departure in the work of the board of managers, which has decided to purchase a couple of cows in order to provide the babies in the home with fresh milk. A few weeks ago the barn on the place, which was purchased just a year ago, was burned, and the structure which is now being raised is taking the place of the ruins. The managers intend that the new barn shall be a model sanitary building.

The Pittsburgh Hospital for Babies is conducted somewhat like a hospital, for the children taken there are usually neglected or sick. At present there are 15 babies in the home. Some have been deserted, others have been taken from homes where they could not be cared for because of sickness, and a few are sent from charitable institutions. The cost of caring for each child amounts to 92 cents a day, and for only a few is even partial board paid.

On August 22 the Pittsburgh Home for Babies will have been in its present home just one year. The house which it occupies was purchased last year for $11,000. The first payment made was $1,500, and on the 21st of October the second payment of $1,250 will be due. The managers are working now to raise the money to meet this obligation. With $5,000 they could make some much needed alterations in the present building which are impossible now. In October the annual donation day will be held. Since entering its present home a year ago the Pittsburgh Home for Babies has sheltered 75 little ones. Its officers include Mrs. Mary H. Pickering, president; Mrs. A. M. Wilson, first vice president; Mrs. Jonathan A. Perley, second vice president; Mrs. H. Pinkelpearl, secretary. Among the managers are Mrs. F. G. Ralph, Mrs. Robert Mosby, Mrs. A. E. Davis, Mrs. W. O. Bigler, Mrs. J. E. Wylie, Miss Nannie Oppenheimer and Mrs. Elma J. Moore. Miss Ida M. Clements, a trained nurse, formerly at the head of a hospital in Moundsville, W. Va., is the superintendent of the home.

Over 1,000 Children in South Side Park.

The South Side Recreation park was crowded with children and visitors yesterday, over 1,000 children being in attendance at the morning playground and vacation school. The record was 612 in the playground, with 325 in the school. Among the visitors were several members of the central board of education, including the president, D. J. Gillespie, and Ed Gosser. William Meckary and Dr. Reinecker. The exhibit of the summer work of the children in the different rooms, while in the playground there were various gymnastic drills and singing by the children. Today the annual field day in the South Side park will be conducted, commencing at 2 o'clock. There will be a band throughout the afternoon and a fine program of sports has been arranged. Ice cream will be distributed as usual. Mrs. Samuel Miller is chairman of the South Side Recreation park.

Yesterday was also exhibition day in the Wickersham school, where the progress made by the children during the last five weeks has been remarkable. The attendance yesterday was 324, and a large number of visitors were present at the morning session to view the work in basketry, sewing and art and nature work.

Today will be exhibition day in the O'Hara and Andrews schools, from 10 until 11 this morning and from 2 until 4 this afternoon, in the South and Greenfield schools.

HAS BLOODY BATTLE WITH NEGRO BURGLAR

McKeesporter Grapples With Him in Dark, and Is Stabbed, as Are Two Others.

Shortly before daylight yesterday morning an unknown negro made a desperate attempt to rob a foreign tenement house in Evans avenue, as a result of which one man is in the McKeesport hospital with knife wounds that may cause his death, while two others were severely cut. The negro escaped. The injured men are Steve Solman and Max and John Lange.

The negro tried to enter the room occupied by Solman. He spoke to the intruder, who dropped from an open window to the yard. Solman followed him and the two men grappled. Solman had the negro by the throat and was slowly choking him when the negro drew his knife. Solman was forced to let go, blood from his wounds streaming into his eyes and blinding him.

The noise aroused all the inmates of the block. Max and John Lange made desperate efforts to capture the negro, but he cut his way through them to Evans alley, where he disappeared. Solman was taken to the hospital. The injuries of the Langes were dressed there and they returned home.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—All Chautauqua is in holiday attire to welcome the greatest visitor in her history. Since Monday new arrivals have been experiencing all sorts of difficulties in securing accommodations. Cottages outside but comparatively near the grounds are all filled, while Mayville, at the end of the lake, has taken care of more visitors than at any time during its history. Homes away out on the hilltop have been opened to transient guests and yet the crowd increases.

The authorities of the institution have purchased dozens of cots, which will be placed in the Hall of Philosophy and in the amphitheater tonight. Young men have been asked to give up their rooms to the feminine portion of the unaccommodated and to sleep on the cots in these open halls. So far, the youths have been prompt to respond.

On account of the great number of people on the grounds, the lectures today were attended by very large audiences.

Christian association work was continued at the Woman's club this morning, when Miss Anna M. Campbell of Cleveland presented the subject of factory work and Miss Florence Blanchard told of the travelers' aid work.

"Evangelism" was the subject discussed by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman at the ministerial conference. His subject at the morning service was "Saying Good-bye to God."

"The Unity of the Human Race" was discussed by Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall.

Dr. J. M. Buckley told of the seven mistakes of the well-meaning young man.

The interdenominational missionary conference was conducted by Miss E. Harriette Stamwood and Miss Frances J. Dyer.

Dr. Carl E. Duft gave the fifth in his series of artists' recitals today.

The athletic club gave another open evening, to which all the men were invited. Appearing on the impromptu program were Mr. William H. Sherwood, pianist; Mr. Sol Marcosson, violinist; Mr. Kitchener, and a Yale and Princeton quartet.

Mrs. S. N. D. Fry, national corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U., was requested to conduct another question box under the auspices of the Willard Federated W. C. T. U.

D. O. Brown, formerly of Springdale, and recently elected principal of the Seventh ward schools of Allegheny, was elected president of the C. L. S. C. class of 1909.

Valet in Employ of George D. Widener Robs Him to Get Money for the Races.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—After systematically robbing Lynnewood Hall, the home of George D. Widener, for the past ten months, John W. George, a valet in the employ of Mr. Widener, has been arrested. He has acknowledged the thefts.

Besides his thefts at the home of Mr. Widener, it is thought the man will be connected with robberies which occurred while he was in the employ of T. L. Park of White Plains, N. Y.; E. C. Swift of Chicago and Alfred G. Vanderbilt. George frequented the race tracks.

Jewish Rabbi Is Persecuted.

The Rev. W. W. Wilder, rabbi of the Beth Jacob synagogue, Franklin and Townsend streets, has left Pittsburgh, it is said, to escape the persecution of his first wife, from whom he declares he was legally divorced. His congregation believed he had gone on a vacation. His wife made an information before Alderman J. V. McMasters, charging non-support. He was held in $300 bail for court trial. This was in June. A few weeks afterward he disappeared. His second wife is still here.

Take an Automobile Trip.

In charge of John M. Reilly and Thomas Ewing a party of officials of the National Tube works of McKeesport chartered one of the park sight-seeing autos yesterday morning and took a three-hours' ride through the parks, boulevard and residence district, viewing the Homestead and Braddock mills from the Beechwood boulevard.

GERMANY MAKE LOAN TO THE SULTAN OF MOROCCO

French Declare Advances Are Illegal and Object to the Arrangement.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—German banks participating in a loan of $2,500,000 to the sultan of Morocco, according to a report circulated on the boerse today, are Mendelssohn & Co., Bleichroeder & Co., the Disconto Gesellschaft and the Berliner Handel Gesellschaft. The loan is regarded as having political as well as financial value for Germany, as it will increase the interests of the empire in Morocco.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The statement that German bankers have advanced a personal loan of $2,500,000 to the sultan of Morocco, although not confirmed officially, is arousing indignant comment, coming after assurances that the status quo was to remain unaffected until the holding of the international conference. It is pointed out that the legality of the loan is contestable, the position of the sultan since the last international conference being similar to that of the Khedive of Egypt, Ismail (who reigned from 1863 to 1879) at the period when the powers intervened for the regulation of Egyptian finances in order to prevent the personal extravagance of the Khedive.

Meanwhile Germany has not yet replied to the last French note regarding the conference. This delay, it is believed, is because Germany is submitting the French proposals to the sultan before responding to them. According to semi-official advices, the sultan is showing more and more a marked opposition to the proposed conference and to any consideration of Moroccan reforms.

NO SLEEP FOR MOTHER

Baby Covered With Sores and Scales. Could Not Tell What She Looked Like.

MARVELOUS CURE BY CUTICURA

"At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The sores began to heal at once, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body. —Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring St., Camden, N. J."

HIGH GRADE STOCKS BOOMED IN THE NEW YORK MARKET

Anthracite Coalers Led the Advance—Crop Reports Helped the General Market—In Pittsburgh the Trading Was Less Active.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

A boom in the high-grade investment railroad stocks was the feature of the New York market yesterday. The leaders in this movement were the anthracite coalers, which reached the highest prices ever quoted. The general list was helped by the government crop report, which was given out at noon, instead of being held until after the close of the market, as formerly. There was a decided increase in the volume of trading, and commission houses reported a larger business handled for the general public. The market closed at the highest prices of the day in most instances, with the tone quite strong.

Shortly after the opening there was a moderate decline throughout the list, which was ascribed to the attitude of London, where it was reported some doubt prevailed as to the outcome of the peace conference. London, however, did not contribute much to the business of the day, and before the end of the first hour the movement began in the anthracite stocks, which subsequently became the feature of the day. Delaware & Hudson led this group in point of activity, and finally reached the record price of 224, an advance of 18½ points from the close on Wednesday. There was a quick reaction to 216, followed by another advance, which carried the price to 229 at the close, a net gain of 15¾ points. Lackawanna opened at 450 and jumped to 468½, closing at the top. Jersey Central advanced from 211 to 217½ and also closed at the highest. While these movements were in progress Reading advanced fractionally and closed ⅞ per cent higher for the day.

The fact that New York Central also became strong and advanced sharply, while Delaware & Hudson was making its record, caused traders to believe that there was some connection between the two movements, and late in the session a report was circulated that New York Central was acquiring control of Delaware & Hudson, and that the stock was tipped for a rise to 250.

Illinois Central was the strongest of the granger list, moving up to and closing at 180¾, a net gain of 6¼ per cent. St. Paul advanced to 183¾ and Atchison crossed 89 on heavy buying. These stocks would derive the greatest benefit from a bountiful corn harvest, which now seems assured.

Another feature of the market, however, was the fact that at 2 o'clock a score of leading stocks, including both railroads and industrials, were quoted at or below the closing prices of Wednesday night, indicating that some interests were selling these stocks, while the high-priced stocks were being boomed. At the hour mentioned it looked as though the general average of values would be lower rather than higher, as a result of the day's business; but late in the session the whole list rallied and closed strong.

Among the low-priced railroad issues Wisconsin Central common and preferred displayed great activity and strength, and closed among the highest. There was no news to account for this movement, but it is recalled that two years ago these stocks enjoyed a boom on rumors that the road was to be merged into a larger system.

The industrials did not share the buoyancy of the railroad list, except possibly Smelting common, which advanced to 126¾, but closed at a gain of only ⅜ per cent. Amalgamated Copper was again a disappointment to the bulls, for while there was another advance in the price of the metal, Amalgamated declined and closed at a loss of ⅝ per cent. United States Steel stocks were moderately active, but the common closed unchanged at 35¾, and the preferred a fraction higher at 103¾.

Commodity markets were weak and lower, which was the natural result of the new crop report. Call loan rates closed unchanged at 1¾ and 2 per cent.

Crucible Steel continued to lead the active local list, but the market as a whole was dull and irregular. Crucible common ranged between 12½ and 12¾, closing unchanged at 12⅝. The preferred rallied to and closed firm at 65⅜. United States Steel stocks were neglected in the local market, but closed firm. There was a moderate revival of activity in River Coal common, which declined to and closed at 8¼. The preferred was dull, but closed 1½ higher at 26½. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was neglected until late in the session, when it sold at 54 and closed offered at 53¾, following a decline which occurred at about the same time in New York. National Fire Proofing preferred rallied to 30, but was subsequently offered at 29¾. The common was unchanged at 8. Ohio Fuel Supply declined a dollar a share to 43 and closed at 40 bid. Manufacturers Light and Heat also declined a fraction to 37 and recovered to 37⅜ bid at the close. Philadelphia Company was neglected. Switch & Signal common gained another small fraction, but Air Brake declined to 148, and Electric remained unchanged at 84. The Brewing issues were dull and unchanged. The only other feature of the market was the activity and strength of Tonopah Extension, which rose to and closed at $5 84 bid, $6 asked, sales reaching 2,150 shares.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

While the New York stock market yesterday was generally admitted to have been under the control of manipulators—because advances of from 5 to 20 points in stocks already quoted at double and quadruple par are abnormal—it is nevertheless a fact that the bulls felt much encouraged after the appearance of the government crop report on wheat, corn and oats showing average conditions higher than those at the corresponding date last year. Business men also felt more confidence in the future of trade, and altogether there was an addition to the cheerful feeling prevailing in financial and commercial circles. The largest cereal crops ever raised in this country were as follows:

	Bushels.
Corn in 1902	2,523,648,312
Wheat in 1901	748,460,216
Oats in 1902	987,542,712

Estimates based upon yesterday's government figures place the probable yield this year as follows:

	Bushels.
Corn	2,699,000,000
Wheat	716,000,000
Oats	950,000,000

Comparing this year's indicated yield with the best crops of previous years it will be seen that a new record is likely to be established for corn, our great money crop, that wheat will be somewhat under the best and oats will be more than 100,000,000 bushels smaller than the record of 1902. Comparing the present indications with the actual harvests of last year, there will be an increase of 176,000,000 bushels of corn, an increase of 158,000,000 bushels of wheat, and a decrease of 37,000,000 bushels of oats. The importance of the figures lies mainly in the indicated yield of wheat and corn, which will be so much above the average as to furnish a large exportable surplus which may take the place of exports of cotton. The latter are likely to be smaller this year on account of the reduced acreage and low condition of cotton. Another factor in the situation is the probability of a large foreign demand for our chief cereals, the reports from both Russia and France indicating that the cereal crops of those countries will fall below the average this year.

The astounding movement in wilt-edged railroad stocks, if it were what it purported to be, would clearly indicate such a congestion of capital seeking investment as might be expected to be followed by a prompt overflow into other channels as the prices of the higher priced stocks rise beyond its reach. But the suspicion was plainly felt that while the movement was intended to convey an impression of this condition, it might be due to machinations in the market of those intent to profit from the impression thus created. The phenomenal upward course of Delaware, Lackawanna & Western for some time past has had the effect of tightening the grasp of holders on other high-priced railroad stocks and thus facilitate yesterday's outburst. A further advance in the price of copper and reports of damage to foreign grain crops were items of interest in the news, but were not much regarded.

The statement made in this column yesterday that the North Butte Mining Company had declared dividends of 5 cents a share, payable in December, 75 cents, payable December 31, and 5 payable in April next was based upon a private dispatch received by a prominent Fourth avenue house from its New York correspondent. Yesterday another prominent local house which makes a specialty of dealing in these unlisted copper stocks in which Pittsburgh has a large following received dispatches from Boston, where the stock is quoted, and also from Duluth, the headquarters of the company, stating that no official action had yet been taken by the directors on the dividend question. The stock was a little firmer yesterday, closing at 34¾ bid, 35½ asked.

R. C. Hall and Sproul & Co. were the largest buyers and Morris, Brown Co. the largest sellers of Tonopah Extension on the advance, in the curb market Golden Anchor was higher, selling at 92 to 95 cents. Oriental and Mashate was offered at 80 cents a share. Union Natural Gas sold at 110.

Marsden was a little firmer, selling at 4¼. According to Philadelphia reports the company contemplates the manufacture of paper as an additional product of its plants.

Home Trust sold at 121½, a decline of 3½ points from the last previous sale.

The decline in United Gas Improvement this week was due to a statement by Mayor Weaver that he proposes to investigate electric lighting in Philadelphia with a view to securing competition for the company now in control of that service, even to the extent of possibly establishing a municipal plant.

The June statement of St. Paul showed the best earnings, both gross and net, ever shown for that month on the system. Not only was this the case, but earnings for the month exceed those of any other outside of the crop moving period when, of course, grain tonnage increases the road's receipts very materially, sometimes bringing the gross above the $10,000 mark. As compared with last year there is an increase of 9.7 per cent in gross and of 30.1 per cent in net. For the 12 months all previous records, both gross and net, are also broken, the former exceeding those of last year by 3½ per cent and the latter exceeding net earnings of 1904 by 6.9 per cent.

The prevailing feature in the Berlin stock market is the boom in coal and mining shares.

Joseph F. Guffey, general manager of the Philadelphia Company, has been elected a director of the South Side Trust Company.

Directors of the National Biscuit Company have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock and 1 per cent on the common. The common dividend is payable August 31.

The Fidelity Title and Trust Co. yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 4 per cent, payable forthwith.

The regular bi-monthly dividend of 4 per cent was declared on Greene Consolidated Copper Co. yesterday.

A. J. Lawrence & Co. were the buyers and Humphries Miller the seller of a block of 6½ shares River Coal common at 8¼, the low price of the year.

There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common on the New York exchange yesterday, and only one sale of the preferred, at 53¾.

Westinghouse Electric advanced 2 per cent in New York, but closed unchanged in Pittsburgh. General Electric advanced to 185¾, but reacted to 181.

It was thought that Gates and his Chicago associates were free sellers of stocks yesterday.

Following is one of the clauses in the will of the late Daniel S. Lamont, who left an estate valued at $2,000,000: "Whenever my executors and trustees shall determine to sell any of the stock of the Northern Pacific Railway Co., or of the Great Northern Railway Co., which I may own at the time of my death, I direct that such stock shall be first offered to my friend, James J. Hill of St. Paul, or if he be not living, to his sons, and if he or they desire to buy such stock at the same price at which it can be sold to others, that it be sold to him or them."

A Philadelphia dispatch says: "The Clairton steel plant is regarded as one of the steel corporation's best. And it is ready to buy more such plants on the same terms as were involved in its purchase." Very true; but the opportunity to duplicate the Clairton transaction is not likely to ever occur again.

Dun's index number of commodity prices proportioned to consumption was 990.846 on August 1, against 991.312 on July 1 and 977.177 a year ago. The rise in quotations of over 1½ per cent during July was a somewhat unusual proceeding, and can be traced to two principal causes—the excessive heat that affected dairy and garden products and the upward tendency of the raw materials used in textile and footwear manufacture. Perishable articles of food were rendered extremely expensive owing to the warm weather, but there was something more permanent in the strength of hides, cotton, wool, etc. As a partial offset there was a much lower level of quotations for grain in response to satisfactory progress of the crops, which promised an ample yield of the leading cereals.

THE THREE RIVERS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 9.8 feet and falling. Today's departures of packets from the port of Cincinnati were: Keystone State, Pittsburgh; Henry M. Stanley, Pomeroy; Courier, Maysville; Levi J. Workum, Madison; Indiana, Louisville. The packet Cando, which has been plying the upper river trade, passed down today for Madison, Ind. She will engage in the Monterey (Ky.) on the Kentucky river and Madison, (Ind.), trade. There are very few towboats moving in the local harbor at present. The Delta arrived today from above with a coal digger and other harbor utensils. The government snagboat E. A. Woodruff is at work clearing away the obstructions in the local harbor. Clear and warm.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; in canal, 4.8 feet; on falls, 2.6 feet; below locks, 9.6 feet.

WHEELING—River 4 feet 9 inches and stationary.

MARIETTA—River 4 feet and falling.

WARREN—River 7 feet.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 4 inches and falling.

STEUBENVILLE—River 4 feet 4 inches and rising.

GALLIPOLIS—River 7 feet and slowly rising.

POINT PLEASANT—River 5 feet 3 inches and falling. Up—Virginia. Down—Greenwood, Kanawha.

RIVER BUSINESS DECLINES.

Low Water Forcing a Tieup of All Boats Until a Rise Comes.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 4 feet and the river was stationary.

River business is practically suspended, so far as any but the lightest draft packet boats are concerned. Rivermen are looking for a slight rise out of the Allegheny, and if it comes there will probably be another week of it for the packets. But the towboats are all tied up at different points along the Ohio between here and Cincinnati. They are unable to get up with their tows of empties until the next good rains come and raise the rivers.

The Bessie Smith arrived yesterday from Parkersburg in place of the Ben Hur. The Ben will get away from here Monday if there is enough water, and will run between Wheeling and Parkersburg, while the Smith will take her place here.

The Greenland, from Charleston, and the Lorena, from Zanesville, will be in today. The I. C. Woodward was the Morgantown boat in yesterday, arriving several hours late.

Work on the new dam in the Monongahela at Port Perry has progressed so far that the locks will be thrown open for navigation soon and work will be pushed forward on the dam. It is expected to have it all completed before cold weather sets in.

LONG SERVICE IS ENDED.

Violent Death in Wreck Cuts Off the Career of Yardmaster Williams.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—After a continuous service of almost 40 years for the Pennsylvania railroad, Yardmaster Daniel Williams of Greensburg, was killed in a wreck on the Sewickley branch, near Calumet, last night. Williams was piloting an engine to Calumet to take a show train to Youngwood. Several cars had broken loose in the Calumet yards and crashed into the engine, which was running backward, at the bottom of a steep grade. Williams was standing at the door of the caboose and was caught in the smashup.

Williams had served as brakeman, conductor, fireman, ticket agent, yardmaster and engineer. He was 55 years old and is survived by his widow and two daughters. Conductor A. L. Williams of Youngwood, and William E. Williams of Greensburg, are brothers.

Mother's Murder and Suicide.

NEW ALBANY, IND., Aug. 10.—Mrs. Chester Winstanley, while temporarily insane today drowned her 8-year-old daughter Ruth, holding her under water in a bath tub. Seizing a pistol, she shot and severely wounded her husband and then swallowed carbolic acid, dying an hour later.

Increases Its Common Stock.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 10.—A certificate of increase in the common stock of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railway from $25,700,000 to $40,000,000, was filed with the secretary of state today. The increase was authorized by the directors on June 21.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The local money market remains quiet and steady at 5@6 per cent on call and time loans. Clearing house comparisons:

Yesterday	$7,944,501 52	$1,918,707 81

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Money was steady and in good demand today and was more plentiful owing to the distribution of railroad dividends. Discounts were firm. The Japanese government apparently is investing the proceeds of the recent loans in short dated 2 per cent treasury bills. The stock exchange generally was quiet and irregular. Owing to a thin attendance and the approach of the settlement, the exchange in some directions was virtually at a standstill. Consols were a shade easier. Americans opened dull but rallied to slightly above parity. They were, however, comparatively inanimate, the public leaving the market to its own devices and closed weaker. Grand Trunk was firm on traffic showings. Japanese securities were firmer. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103¾. Consols for money, 90⅝; consols for the account, 90¾.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The bourse opened undecided today, awaiting news of the Portsmouth peace conference, but closed firm. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 88.20 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 502.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—The boerse today was firm. Exchange on London, 20 marks 47½ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates, short bills, 1½ per cent; three months' bills, 2½ per cent.

...TER SHIELDS HOUSE IS SOLD

Grant McCargo Secures Fine Squirrel Hill Residence for $37,000 for a Home.

PENDING DEAL IN SWISSVALE

Grant McCargo, of the firm of Miller & McCargo, has purchased the fine residence at the northeast corner of Northumberland street and Squirrel Hill avenue, Twenty-second ward, which is generally known as the Peter Shields house for $37,000. Title to the property was obtained from the Beechwood Improvement Co., Ltd., and the place is considered a bargain at the price. The residence is a 12-room, center-hall, red pressed brick house on 100x150 feet. The house has two tile bath rooms and is handsomely finished throughout in hardwoods. It was built about two years ago at a cost of $40,000, or over, as a home for Mr. Shields. When he took charge of the development of New Cape May he decided to let the house stand empty rather than rent it, and it has never been occupied. It is about midway between Forbes and Murdoch streets and only one square from the Murdoch entrance to Schenley park. Mr. McCargo, it is understood, will occupy the place as a home.

Jacob H. Goehring yesterday secured title to the fine residence at 5831 Bartlett street, near Murray avenue, which he secured for $25,000 from Thomas J. Keenan, taking it in part payment for his property in Liberty avenue, near Seventh street. Mr. Keenan bought the property last May from Albert Pettit for $18,000. The house is a 12-room, center-hall residence on 70x148 feet.

Deal for Big Swissvale Corner.

A deal is pending for the well-known Collingwood property in Swissvale, one of the finest vacant plots in that vicinity. It is at the corner of McClure avenue and Max Welton street and has a frontage of about 400 feet in the former street. The plot runs up to the Swissvale borough line and is opposite the Sherman property, two-thirds of which was built up two years ago with good houses and stores. The would-be buyer of the Collingwood property is said to be a prominent local builder, who, if he secures it, will improve the frontage with houses costing from $2,500 to $4,000.

The Shaw property at the northeast corner of Lincoln and Shaw avenues, Bellevue, is reported sold for $12,000. The plot, which has a frontage of about 100 feet in Lincoln avenue, is improved with an old brick house of little value. It is one of the best residence sites in Bellevue, and it is reported that a modern residence will be erected on the lot this fall. This is the third plot of Lincoln avenue frontage that has been sold since June 1, and all of them are to be improved with costly residences.

More Surveyors at Mt. Lebanon.

A fresh train of Mt. Lebanon rumors has been started this week, by the actions of a dozen or more surveyors who have been surveying the land back of the Mt. Lebanon church. The new lines are being run over a territory about 1.5 miles long and a half-mile wide, lying between the Washington road and Arlington. Although it is generally supposed the surveys are being made for a street car line, no definite information on this point can be secured and the stories circulated about the outcome of the work are as vague as many of the other rumors that were peddled about street car developments near the church earlier in the year. One thing is certain, however, considerable property is being quietly picked up, either by purchase or option, along the supposed new line and at prices that discount all former values. The last farm secured is that of Charles Martin, 130 acres fronting on the Washington road, which was optioned a few days ago. The land is valued at about $1,000 an acre. The deal for the McCormick farm, which was reported sold some time ago, has not been closed and another buyer is in the market for it, if the syndicate which optioned it before does not "make good" this week.

They front in North street and Tingley, Logan, Oregon and Woods avenues, and border on the new street car line which will connect Bellevue and West View. The prices range from $700 to $700 each.

CORN IN FINE SHAPE.

Winter Wheat Crop Will Be About 424,400,000 Bushels—Spring Grain Much Above Average.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The department of agriculture today issued the following crop report:

Condition of corn August 1, 88.0, as compared with 87.3 last month, 87.8 on August 1, 1904, 78.7 at the corresponding date in 1903, and a ten-year August average of 85.4.

Preliminary returns indicate a winter wheat crop of about 424,400,000 bushels (254,640,000 centals), or an average of 14.3 bushels (8.6 centals) per acre, as compared with 12.4 bushels (7.4 centals) per acre last year, as finally estimated.

The average condition of spring wheat on August 1 was 89.2, as compared with 91.0 last month, 87.8 on August 1, 1904, 77.1 at the corresponding date in 1903, and a ten-year August average of 84.3.

The average condition of the oat crop on August 1 was 90.8, as compared with 92.1 last month, 88.6 on August 1, 1904, 79.5 at the corresponding date in 1903, and a ten-year August average of 83.7.

The proportion of the oat crop of last year still in the hands of farmers is estimated at 6.2 per cent, as compared with 5.4 per cent of the crop of 1903 in farmers' hands one year ago, 7.4 per cent of the crop of 1902 in farmers' hands two years ago, and a ten-year average of 7.2.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices. Reports of further cold weather in Brazil and a cable estimating the present Rio and Santos crop at 12,000,000 bags had no apparent influence and at one time the market was about 5@10 points lower under September liquidation, which was largely in the way of switches from near to late positions. A closing advance of ¼@⅓ pfg. in the German market, however, caused a somewhat better demand from abroad the close, and the market was finally steady net unchanged to 10 points lower. Sales were reported of 178,250 bags, including September at 7.05c; October at 7.15c; December at 7.25c; January at 7.45c; March at 7.60c; May at 7.70@7.75c; July at 7.75c. About 150,000 bags of the total business reported consisted of exchanges from September to later months, mostly December, a difference of 30 points. Coffee—Spot Rio steady; mild, steady. Sugar—Raw firm; fair refining, 3½@3 17-32c; centrifugal 96 test, 4¼@4 5-32c; molasses sugar, 3¼@3 9-32c; refined firm.

LOCAL MARKETS SHOW BUT SLIGHT CHANGES

Trade Is Light But Satisfactory, and Today Promises Very Heavy Business.

Trade was quiet along the street yesterday, with the market firm in the prices of fruit, vegetables and produce. The dealers had little to do but a heavy trade is looked for today. Thursday being ordinarily a dull market day. Orders for most of the merchants are heavy this week and today will be a busy one getting goods to railway station for shipment to towns near Pittsburgh. The upriver boats will also be heavy laden with freight from this city for the merchants of the valley. Although the farmers and hucksters have cut into the trade of the regular dealers heavily, yet they are by no means idle and a big business is still being transacted, especially in melons and fruit.

The grocery trade seems to be on a substantial basis. The uncertainty of flour and sugar has driven retailers to buying for needs only and avoiding speculative purchases. The result is a decided improvement all along the line while the flour and sugar trade has decidedly improved the last week or two.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were—Pennsylvania lines, 15 cars oats, 6 cars corn, 3 cars hay, 1 car straw, 2 cars feed, 3 cars rye; Lake Erie, 1 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 1 car rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 3 cars hay, 1 car straw.

Hay continues in light receipts and better grades of both old and new are quickly picked up. Offers of timothy have been advanced. There is no change in corn to note. Little inquiry is noted for oats. Straw remains about the same, with receipts not quite so heavy and prices will probably advance, especially on rye. Receipts of mill feed are light and prices firmer.

UNION STATION FOR CLEVELAND

Pennsylvania and New York Central Systems to Have Joint Terminal in That City.

PHASE OF WHEELING FIGHT

The elevation of the company's tracks in Cleveland is not the only project that the Pennsylvania lines west have there for the near future. Announcement has been made that a joint meeting of officers of the Pennsylvania lines, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and Big Four roads is to be held within a couple of weeks to consider plans for a new passenger station for that city to be used by the three big roads. This announcement comes from General Manager W. H. Marshall of the Lake Shore road. It was admitted by an officer of the Pennsylvania lines west yesterday that the plan for a union station for the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems is in contemplation.

This will be the first meeting of the officers to talk directly on definite plans for the structure, although the matter has been considered in a casual way before. No location has been decided upon. One of the sites reported to be under consideration is at the bluff overlooking the lake just west of the foot of Erie street. The site would be well adapted to the elevation of the railroad tracks through Cleveland, which work has just been started by the Pennsylvania lines. The building of such a station for the Pennsylvania at Cleveland would not alter its uptown stations at Euclid and Woodland avenues. These stations are to Cleveland what the East Liberty and Wilkinsburg stations are to Pittsburgh. It is expected that the new Cleveland union station will cost about $5,000,000.

"Plans have already been drawn entirely satisfactory to the Lake Shore," said General Manager Marshall. "These plans have been submitted to the officers of the two roads, but no reply has been made by either road. We expect to get together to consider the plans in a couple of weeks. I think there will be harmony of opinion regarding the plans and I hope we can get the work under way at an early date. As soon as we agree on a definite plan the matter will be presented to the city for action. Considering the location and conditions, I do not anticipate any delay from this side of the matter."

Will Name Murdock's Successor.

L. E. Chalenor, assistant general freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway at Savannah, Ga., was in the city yesterday and it was expected that he would name a successor to the late John A. Murdock as commercial agent of the Seaboard Despatch here. Just before Mr. Chalenor left for the east last evening he said that he was not ready to announce the new appointee, although this will probably be done today or tomorrow from the general freight offices. "We realize the importance of Pittsburgh in the traffic business and must have a good man for the place, one that knows the district and railroad traffic business," said Mr. Chalenor.

A change would have been made in the Pittsburgh office even had Mr. Murdock lived, for upon the day he died he was appointed assistant general freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line. The decision for this promotion was made by the higher traffic officers when Mr. Murdock was regaining his health before the backset came.

Mr. Chalenor said that the yellow fever has had a bad effect on all passenger business in the south. The roads have had to take precautions against the spread of the disease to other sections.

Pennsy Officers Conferring.

Second Vice President Charles E. Pugh, General Manager W. W. Atterbury and Chief Engineer W. H. Brown of the Pennsylvania railroad arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon after a trip of two days over the road from Philadelphia. They spent Wednesday inspecting the lines east of Altoona, and came west yesterday after an inspection of the company's properties in Altoona. The officers are making the trip over the system to have definite information as to what work must be pushed to an early completion, so that the lines will be in the best possible shape for the heavy fall and winter traffic. Orders have been given for rushing along several important parts of the construction, included in those being the Point district improvements for the freight warehouse and yards. The yard tracks have been laid and the work of filling in where the inbound and outbound freight houses are to be built is being pushed along rapidly. The last of the buildings on the big plot of ground, excepting the Block House property, is now being dismantled. The Duquesne way elevated line is about ready for track laying over its entire length. This will probably be completed in about 10 days. Mr. Pugh expressed himself as well pleased with traffic now and with the outlook for the fall.

New Wheeling Service to East.

Announcement was made by the Pennsylvania lines yesterday that in the course of a few days a new through service from Wheeling to Philadelphia and New York will be established. This service will be conducted in connection with one of the fast trains of the Pennsylvania lines from Wheeling to Pittsburgh, and the cars will be carried east on train No. 16 of the Pennsylvania. The Wheeling situation has been presenting some interesting phases in recent weeks. The Wabash was one of the first features of a fight for business that has been on all summer. Then the Baltimore & Ohio announced a couple of weeks ago that it would take care of its own service from the Ohio River division through Wheeling to Pittsburgh, which business had been handled by the Pennsylvania lines. The matter was considered by the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio heads of the operating departments, and it was agreed to let the Baltimore & Ohio take this business. The Pennsylvania system people said nothing until after the service was changed. Since that time there has been something new every couple of days in the Wheeling-Pittsburgh service. The intention of the Pennsylvania system to establish this new through service is the latest phase of the situation. The Baltimore & Ohio has through service to the east by way of its main line from Wheeling, and it is expected that arrangements will be made to connect the evening train from the Ohio River division with train No. 16 at Pittsburgh for the east.

Railroad Notes.

J. B. Hill, Jr., traffic manager of the American Sewer Pipe Company, is spending today in Indianapolis.

E. F. Lalk, general agent of the Santa Fe system, has been elected a member of the board of governors of the Traffic club.

L. D. Kitchell, district passenger agent of the Great Northern railway, is spending a couple of days at his home in Cleveland nursing a sprained knee.

H. H. Temple, engineer maintenance of way of the Baltimore & Ohio on the Pittsburgh system, is confined to his home at Latonia, Ky., by typhoid fever.

The Baltimore & Ohio handled more than 3,000 persons from Connellsville to Olympia park yesterday for the annual outing of the merchants of Connellsville and New Haven. Four special trains were run.

E. T. White, superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore & Ohio at Baltimore, spent yesterday here in conference with General Superintendent Robert Finney, Master Mechanic J. F. Prendergast and other officers.

J. D. Conway, chief clerk of the Lake Erie's motive power department, and secretary of the Railway club of Pittsburgh, will leave with his family tomorrow for a vacation jaunt of two weeks to Montreal and the Catskills.

A. P. Boller, consulting engineer of the Wabash system, of New York spent yesterday here in conference with Vice President B. A. Worthington and Chief Engineer George T. Barnsley of the Wabash lines east of Toledo.

It is said that President F. A. Delano has concluded a deal by which $8,600,000 will be available at once for improvements on the Wheeling & Lake Erie, including the dock improvements at Huron, which were outlined in The Gazette several weeks ago.

The Pennsylvania railroad has reduced the working hours in its machine and car shops at Altoona, Juniata and Pitcairn from ten to nine hours. It is not announced whether the order for shorter hours is effective for more than the remainder of this month or not.

Earl O. Lind, who came here a couple of months ago as assistant ticket agent of the Wabash, returned yesterday to Defiance, Ohio, as agent for the Wabash at that place. This was the position held by Mr. Lind before he came to Pittsburgh. His successor has not been named for the local place.

Grand Master P. H. Morrissey of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has issued a circular letter to the lodges of that order to take an active participation in the Labor day demonstrations this year. This is the first time in the history of the B. R. T. that such an order has been issued.

Bruce W. Duer, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio, left last evening for Buffalo. He will go from there to Toronto and thence on a steamer trip down the St. Lawrence river. Mr. Duer is taking this trip for recuperation, he having been threatened with fever for the past week.

The shipments of coal and coke on the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ended August 5 amounted to 577,204 tons, there being 577,873 tons of bituminous coal, 211,796 tons of coke and 87,533 tons of anthracite coal. The year to that date, as compared with the same period of last year, shows an increase or about 2,500,000 tons in the coal and coke shipments, or almost 10 per cent.

Brakeman Is Crushed Between Cars.

Thomas J. Navish, aged 24, of 1012 Washington street, Braddock, employed as a brakeman in the yards of the Union railroad at Braddock, was seriously crushed between cars while at work early yesterday morning. He was taken to his home and is not expected to recover.

PURE FOOD LAW CAMPAIGN OPENS

Thirteen Meat Dealers Are Prosecuted and One of Them Pleads Guilty.

PENALTY IS VERY SEVERE

The state pure food agents have started in on a campaign against dealers selling food stuffs with preservatives in them, oleomargarine and adulterated milk. Agent H. L. Banzhoff of the pure food division of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture yesterday made informations before Alderman Groetzinger against 13 dealers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and the hearing of the charges is set for August 15, between 9:30 and 10:30 a. m.

The informations are brought under an act of the last legislature, much more drastic than the old law. Under the latter $50 was the highest fine that could be imposed, while the new act imposes a penalty of not less than $100 or more than $200. W. C. Pfeil of 1120 Carson street, one of the 13 defendants, was yesterday brought to Groetzinger's office. He pleaded guilty to selling Hamburger steak, with sulphites as a preservative, and was fined $100 and costs.

These are the other 12 defendants, their addresses, the article they are accused of selling and the preservatives alleged to have been used: John Seiler, stand 92, Pittsburgh market, frankfurter sausage, boracic acid; William H. Braun, milk, formaldehyde; W. H. Pfeifer, 18 Allegheny market, veal loaf, boracic acid; C. Dietrich & Sons., 96 Pittsburgh market, bologna sausage, boracic acid; A. G. Walter, 35 Allegheny market, liver pudding, boracic acid; Henry Lohrey, 43 Allegheny market, liver pudding, boracic acid; W. B. Miller, Allegheny, pressed or Ashland ham, boracic acid; Otto Heil, 28 Allegheny market, Hamburger steak, sulphites; George P. Eckert, 43 Allegheny market, Hamburger steak, sulphites; George Etzel, 78 Pittsburgh market, Hamburger steak, sulphites; George W. Evans, Hamburger steak, sulphites, and J. H. Ehrhardt, Allegheny market, oleomargarine, artificially colored to resemble butter and not stamped as oleomargarine.

Attorney H. W. McIntosh, counsel for the dairy and pure food division, who prepared the informations, said yesterday that it was the intention to continue the prosecutions until dealers cease selling adulterated food stuffs and that dealers in adulterated breakfast foods would be prosecuted. Agent Banzhoff declares that he will not be a respecter of persons in this matter, and that the big meat packers will be proceeded against.

The Pittsburgh milk inspector, Samuel P. Adler, made informations before Alderman Alpern against several milk dealers, accused of selling milk not up to the legal standard. J. E. Smith, of 2568 Wylie avenue, was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, and the following were let off with the payment of costs: S. Earnest, No. 126 Pius street, South Side; A. H. Kendig, Lytle street, Hazelwood; B. Wisley, Hazelwood; Stephen Yornyk, 4273 Second avenue; J. Sikora, 65 Magnolia street; Joseph Six, Hazelwood, and Jacob Kramer, 26 Pius street, South Side.

LUTHERANS GATHER AT BRUSH CREEK CHURCH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 10.—Nearly 5,000 people today attended the Lutheran reunion and 125th anniversary of the church's existence at Brush Creek. The morning was spent in sight-seeing and a basket dinner was indulged in at noon. A feature of the day was the opening of the fireproof safe that stands beside the altar in the church. It contains a big rawhide-covered book that has inscribed in it the names of all members of the congregation for the last 125 years. The list was started when the church was first organized and every name is legible. The book is constantly guarded by the trustees, while it is outside the safe.

The first place of worship was a combination church and blockhouse. It was burned by the Indians, and another log building of the same kind took its place. The present brick building was started in 1816, and was not dedicated until 1819. It was three years in building on account of lack of funds. The congregation owned about 180 acres of land that was purchased in 1797 for 2½ pounds sterling.

This, in latter years, proved a valuable investment. The land was underlaid with coal and the mining rights brought in thousands of dollars. The proceeds were used for a fine parsonage, grounds and cemetery and beautifying the interior of the church.

The exercises this afternoon consisted of music by the Citizens' band of Irwin and addresses by the Rev. P. Doerr, pastor; the Rev. S. K. Herbster, of Irwin; the Rev. A. Waters, of Uniontown; the Rev. J. Brubeck of Jeannette, and the Rev. A. L. Young, D. D., of Greensburg.

TURNS UP IN DENVER.

Man Who Said He Would Commit Suicide Is Recognized.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Attorney Charles A. Falls of this city, who was supposed to have committed suicide at Cleveland, has been recognized by New Castle people on the streets of Denver. Falls left here and went to Cleveland early in 1901 after his wife filed a charge of desertion and non-support against him.

Falls later disappeared from his lodgings in Cleveland, leaving a note that he had committed suicide, and that his clothing would be found at the end of the Erie street pier. The clothes were at the place designated but Fall's body was never found.

Only Made Dent in Armor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The new Isham shell, containing 170 pounds of dynamite and fired from a 12-inch gun, was tested at Sandy Hook today. The target was a 12-inch steel plate. Safely the shell left the gun, which was of the coast defense type, struck the plate, and exploded the dynamite. The damage inflicted was confined to a dent in the resisting piece of armor. Government officials witnessed the test.

Failures at the National Game.

While attempting to play baseball yesterday afternoon a number of Slavs residing in Dixon street, Homestead, seriously injured Lizzie Fwz, aged 6 years. One of the Slavs made a wild throw and struck the child on the face, rendering her unconscious. J. Timko, John Kopas and John Rozesky, three of the players, were arrested and are being held to await the outcome of the child's injuries.

AN OWNER VISITS BELASCO THEATER

"Parson" Davies Announces Its Opening for September 4 With Mrs. Leslie Carter.

BOOKINGS ALMOST COMPLETE

Charles E. Davies, one of the lessees of the Duquesne theater, was in Pittsburgh yesterday to arrange for the opening of the house on Monday, September 4. He announced that Mrs. Leslie Carter probably would play on the initial week in one or more plays of her repertoire. Bookings have been made for 26 weeks and Mr. Davies said that a season of 30 weeks would be run, providing high-class attractions throughout.

Mr. Davies, known throughout the athletic world as "Parson" Davies, holds a five-year lease on the Duquesne, with Henry Lehmann of New Orleans. Twenty thousand dollars is being spent in remodeling the theater. Yesterday Mr. Davies found the interior of the building a mere shell surrounding a forest of scaffolding. The entire lower floor will be provided with new seats, and cushioned chairs will be placed in some of the forward rows of the gallery. A new canopy will be built over the Penn avenue sidewalk and the lobby will be brightened with new paint and new frescoes. The dressing rooms are being rebuilt and a new proscenium curtain will be added.

"Our object is to give Pittsburgh another first-class theater," said Mr. Davies, "and our aim shall be to give the best amusements we can obtain at a fixed price. We are not fighting the theatrical syndicate or any one else. Pittsburgh I have known for more than a score of years, and it has always maintained its reputation as one of the best 'show towns' in the country. I think the people here will patronize another first-class house, if the standard is regularly maintained.

"The new Belasco theater should solve this problem. We have been particularly fortunate in securing attractions and have just been informed that we shall have Frank Perley's five companies here. Through the Shubert agency we shall have De Wolf Hopper in a revival of 'Wang,' Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon in a new play, Jefferson De Angelis in a new opera, 'The Runaways,' 'Fantana' and several others. Through Belasco we shall get some of the best companies on the road."

C. A. Bird, general manager of the Shubert enterprises, will come to Pittsburgh on August 19 to prepare for the opening. There is a probability that Tunis F. Dean, of Luna park, will be chosen resident manager of the house. The orchestra will contain 12 pieces, and its leader, together with other officers and attaches of the theater will be named as soon as Mr. Bird comes to Pittsburgh. Mr. Davies left last night for his home at New Orleans. He says he has little to fear from the yellow fever scare, and says that information which reaches him from the plague-visited city indicates that the people are not as much alarmed as some reports would indicate.

CASTLE SHANNON GETS AN OFFER TO SELL OUT

Two Local Capitalists Want to Buy Inclines and the Passenger Franchise.

The stockholders of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company next Wednesday afternoon will hold a special meeting to receive a proposition to sell the Mt. Washington and Allentown incline planes and the passenger franchise of the road. The transaction will have no bearing on the company's coal properties.

F. J. LaMoyne, secretary of the company, stated yesterday the offer came from two local capitalists, but that he was uncertain whether they were working independently or for a large corporation. He refused to divulge the names of the persons in the proposed deal.

In some quarters it is stated that the Pittsburgh Railways Company is behind the matter. The majority of the stockholders, it is said, favor selling out. The passenger business has suffered greatly since the opening of the new Charleroi trolley line, but on the incline business has gained materially owing to the building up of the Bailey farm plans of lots in the Thirty-second ward.

KAISER TO THE POLES

William Desires Them to Know Their Religion Will Be Respected by Him.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—Emperor William, alluding to Polish discontent in a speech made yesterday at a dinner at Gnesen, Prussia, the ancient place where the Polish kings were crowned, said he wished each Catholic Pole to know his religion was honored by his emperor.

"In my last visit to the vatican," said his majesty, "the great Leo XIII., as I took my leave, held me with both hands, and notwithstanding I am a Protestant, gave me his blessing, with this promise:

"'I pledge and promise your majesty, in the name of all Catholics who are your subjects, of whatever race or position, that they will be faithful subjects of the German emperor and the king of Prussia.'

"You are my fellow-workers," said the emperor in conclusion, "and Germany stands for culture and for freedom for everyone in religion, in thought and in achievement."
